Nixon Pleads For 'Peaceful' Demonstration

WASHINGTON (AP) — From the steps of the Lincoln Memorial President Nixon appealed at dawn today for peaceful protest as thousands of young people massed in the nation's capital to demonstrate against his Southeast Asia policies.

"Go shout your slogans on the Ellipse," the President told a small group camped at the Memorial waiting for the demonstration's start. "Just keep it peaceful."

The President was as restless as the rest of the capital, as the demonstration day dawned warm and cloudless. Estimates were that 35,000 to 200,000 persons would gather in the Ellipse, a huge park immediately south of the White House, for the protest organized hurriedly by a group called The New Mobilization to End the War in Vietnam.

Police barricaded roads leading into the White House area and parked buses bumper to bumper, almost like a solid fence, around the executive mansion itself.

Nixon had said in his news conference Friday night that he would be able to hear the demonstration from the Ellipse and

Withdrawal From Cambodia Could Be Speedy: Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has told the nation destruction of enemy sanctuaries is going faster than expected and the great majority of American troops will be pulled out of Cambodian territory before mid-June.

"...All Americans of all kinds, including advisors, will be out of Cambodia by the end of June," he promised Friday night during his first televised news conference since Jan. 30.

In defense of his bitterly controversial decision that launched the invasion of the Cambodian sanctuaries 10 days ago, Nixon said the operation would save hundreds if not thousands of American lives by destruction of enemy arms stores. It will also buy six to eight months of time for building up South Vietnamese forces to take over the war, he said.

Nixon made these other points:

- He plans to "give a report to the nation" when the Cambodian action is completed and at that time will finally assess its accomplishments and risks.
- His withdrawal of another 150,000 American troops from Vietnam will be completed in a year, as announced April 20. That will reduce the U.S. force remaining to something over 200,000 men. Nixon used the fig-

'Sick Person' Blamed For Campus Fire

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP) — Fire believed caused by an arsonist destroyed the oldest building on the Colorado State University campus early today.

President A.R. Chamberlain said, "One is led to believe the fire surely is the work of a sick person bent on attempting to shut the university by terrorist tactics. . . . I believe it is absolutely critical this senseless act of destruction not be permitted to accomplish its purpose. . . . 'We will not close down because of this act.'"

Chamberlain added he did not believe a Colorado State student was involved in starting the fire. "More likely it was a former student or out-of-the-community person trying to ride on the back of our peace-oriented strike. Of course, I have no proof at this time," he said.

A member of the student legislature, Bob Beck, said he received an anonymous call after a peaceful march Thursday. He said the voice on the telephone said, "If this thing keeps up this university is going to burn."

Authorities said there were three explosions before the fire was noticed.

Fire Chief Ed Yonker said an arsonist was responsible for that fire and for an earlier minor blaze at an ROTC annex building on the campus. He estimated damage at $500,000.

A young woman told police she and her boy friend encountered a college-age man carrying a torch, just after the fire broke out late Friday night.

Police said they were searching for two men.

Milliken, Aides Being Accused Of 'Brainwashing'

WARREN (AP) — George N. Parris, Macomb County prosecutor and a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, said Friday that the administration of Republican Gov. William Milliken is guilty of "brainwashing and cowardice" on the campus issue.

Parris said in a speech marking the opening of a campaign office that Milliken relied "upon armed force alone to meet the protesters."

"We can't provide education at any level in America with bayonets," Parris said.

He urged instead "a partnership with the great mass of college and high school students who want an education, not violence, and can be enlisted to help clean their own houses."

He said 240,000 but later said while some such level might be achieved it was not the stated goal.

—The U.S. delegation will attend the Paris peace talks next week even though the North Vietnamese boycotted last Wednesday's session. Nixon said he has not given up hope for a negotiated settlement.

—In the Middle East "the situation has become ominous" because of reports that Soviet pilots are flying in the Egyptian air force, though not in combat sorties. If the Russian role escalates, Nixon said, it would upset the power balance between Israel and the Arab states and he would have to consider the sale of more jet planes to Jerusalem.

—In negotiations with Moscow to limit strategic nuclear weapons "I will predict now that there will be an agreement," Nixon said, because the United States and Russia have a common interest in curbing the arms race.

Violence marred some demonstrations as protests of President Nixon's Southeast Asia policy continued at colleges across the nation and at Washington, D.C., where thousands rallied for a march today on the White House.

Cambridge, Mass., police chased some 500 rampaging protesters through Harvard Square after a peaceful antiwar rally by 30,000 persons. The rampaging youths broke windows and blocked traffic.

The nationwide demonstrations and disorders have continued for several days in protest against the killing of four students by National Guardsmen at Kent State University and President Nixon's decision to send American combat troops into Cambodia.

President Expresses Willingness To Listen

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has defended his Southeast Asia policy as the road to the quick peace his critics demand, while indicating a willingness to listen to the demonstrators gathered by the thousands near the White House today to protest U. S. involvement in Indochina.

The President pledged in a nationally broadcast news conference Friday night — his first since Jan. 30 — to spend all of today in a White House ringed by antiwar demonstrators and security forces. He raised the possibility of a face-to-face meeting with some of the mostly student dissidents.

The chief executive took a generally conciliatory attitude toward college-age protesters during the 33-minute session with reporters, while arguing his decision to send U. S. ground troops into Cambodia offers the best chance of achieving peace.

Even as Nixon spoke, scores of young people lined the Pennsylvania Avenue fence in front of the executive mansion, singing, chanting obscenities and placing a myriad of lighted candles atop the wrought iron fence posts.

"I have asked all the younger members of my staff to talk to the demonstrators and try to get their views. . . . I will be glad to see them if some of them are available," the President said.

Cambodia and campus unrest dominated the news conference, and Nixon said he and the antiwar demonstrators have the same goal in mind—peace in Southeast Asia.

While declaring that he will not attempt to stop Vice President Spiro T. Agnew or other administration officials from speaking their minds, Nixon added a key phrase that presumably he hopes will be taken to heart by government spokesmen:

More Americans Making Plunge Into Cambodia

SAIGON (AP) — A force of 30 U.S. naval boats and 70 South Vietnamese craft launched a drive up the Mekong River today in the first waterborne assault into Cambodia, allied headquarters announced. Within hours, six South Vietnamese gunboats suppressed enemy fire more than half way up the river.

A dispatch from Cambodia said that after enemy sniper fire was silenced, helicopters began unloading South Vietnamese troops near the enemy-held ferry crossing at Neak Luong.

At the same time more than 10,000 American and South Vietnamese troops launched three new drives inside Cambodia against enemy bases. Hundreds of American tanks, armored personnel carriers, helicopter gunships and fighter-bombers were committed to the new offensives. The official announcements came one on top of another.

Some 2,500 additional American troops plunged into Cambodia to open an eighth front against North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces, field reports said.

The U.S. Command said elements of the 2nd Brigade of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division made the new thrust, and in a delayed report said hundreds of troops of the 3rd Brigade of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division combined with South Vietnamese civilian irregulars to open a seventh front Thursday.

The field reports said the new operation—with scores of Sheridan tanks and armored personnel carriers, and backed by tactical fighter-bombers, helicopter gunships and artillery—was launched about 80 to 90 miles northwest of Saigon, to the west of a massive sweep begun a week ago in the Fishhook area of Cambodia.

The belatedly reported operation which started Thursday opened a new front in the Parrot's Beak section, 45 miles west of Saigon.

Seven of the Cambodian war fronts now range from 35 miles west of Saigon to more than 100 miles to the north-northeast, with another battle scene far to the north in the Central Highlands, 50 miles west of Pleiku City.

U.S. troops sweeping through North Vietnamese base camps inside Cambodia, meanwhile, uncovered a 300-ton stockpile of munitions and foodstuffs, military sources said. They called it the biggest cache of enemy supplies ever found during the Vietnam war.

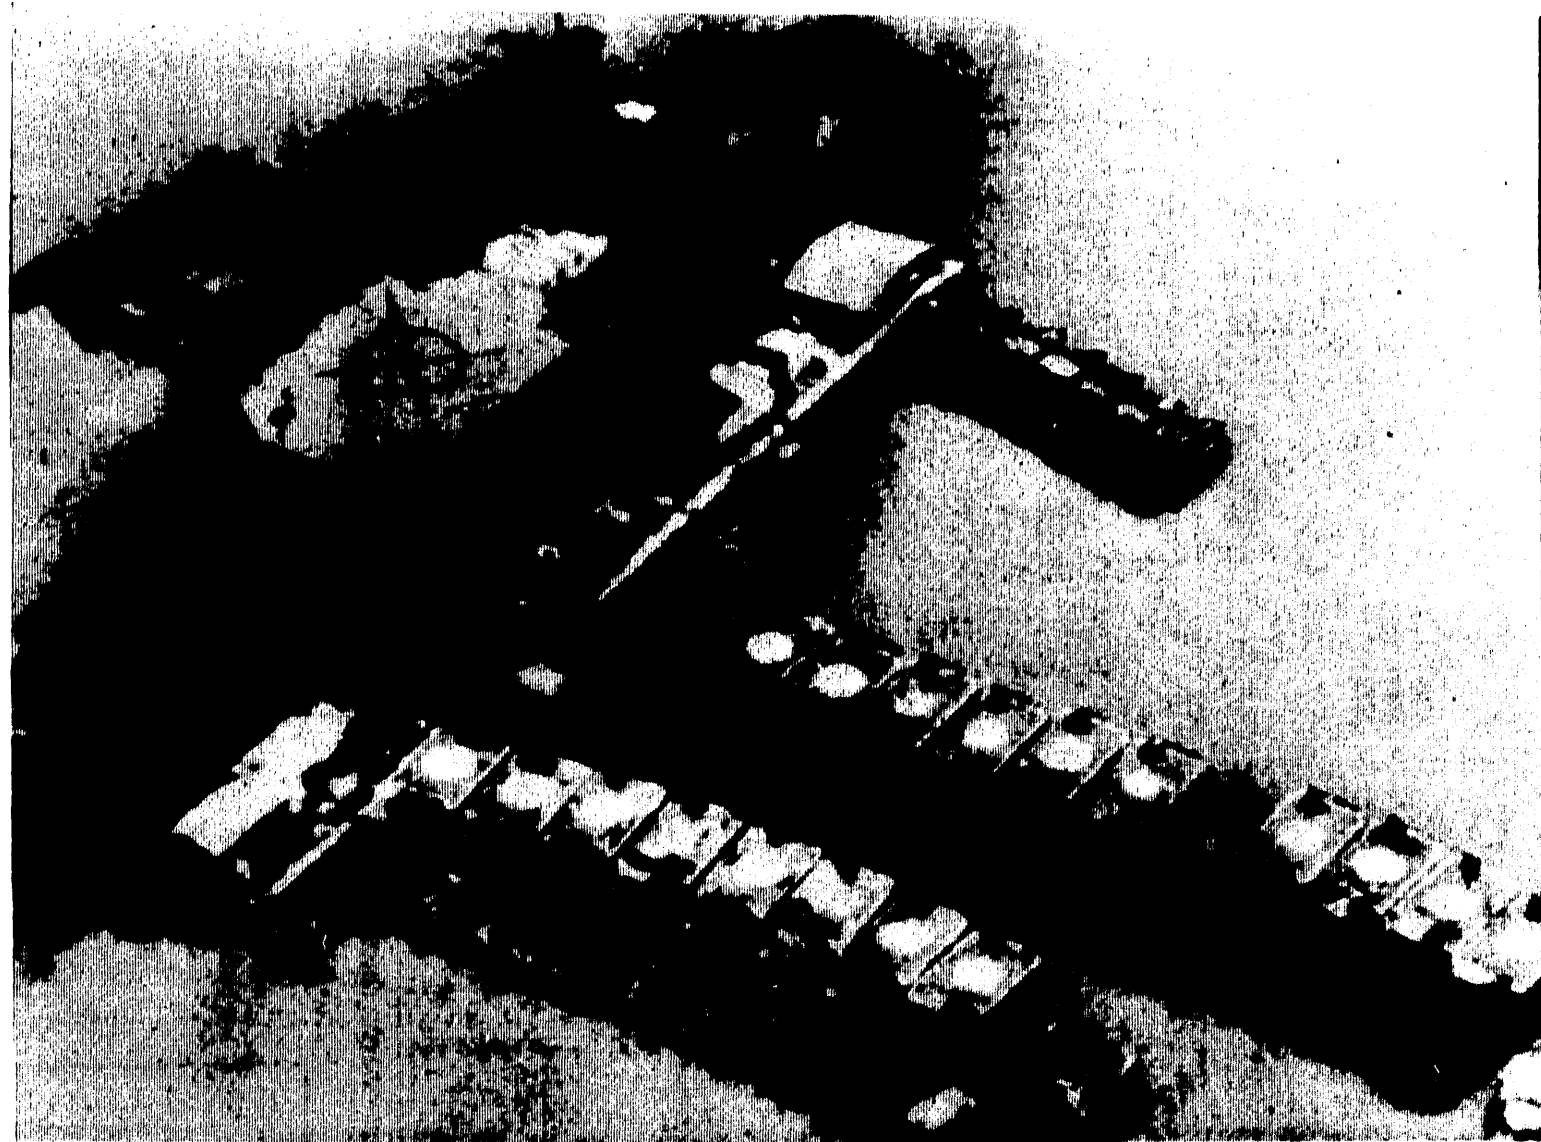

Sources said they expected even more would be found. "The American troops are still digging," one source said.

Griffin was asked about U.S. invasion of Cambodia, a matter of prime concern at President Nixon's televised news conference from Washington earlier in the evening.

"I would hope that all of the members of this administration would have in mind... a rule that I have always had, and it is a very simple one: When the action is hot, keep the rhetoric cool."

And, in Boise, Idaho, Agnew followed that advice. He eliminated some caustic comments from a prepared speech, saying he was toning down his remarks in defending the administration's Cambodia policy.

Agnew delayed his talk to a GOP dinner until after Nixon's news conference and then said: "If my abandonment of the first two pages of this speech in some small way will help cool the violent situation in the United States, I'm going to do it."

The Vice president scrapped the already-released references to "choleric young intellectuals and tired, embittered elders" mounting "shrill attacks" against the administration.

Nixon had said in his news conference Friday night that he would be able to hear the demonstration from the Ellipse and that he had instructed members of his staff to talk with some of the demonstrators.

But his 5 a.m. appearance at the Lincoln Memorial, a mile from the White House, was unprecedented.

"The Secret Service was petrified," he said.

Nixon said he had been up until 2:30 a.m. reading and accepting phone calls, but couldn't sleep and at 4 a.m. decided to go to the memorial. After his visit there, Nixon and his valet, Manolo Sanchez, drove to the Capitol and he spent some time touring the deserted rotunda.

The Defense Department said about 5,600 regular soldiers and Marines were standing by in federal facilities to help the National Guard and law enforcement agencies if they are needed.

Leaders of the demonstration had stressed, however, the protesters wanted to avoid violence of any kind.

"We have not come here to go to jail," said Ron Young, a coordinator for the New Mob. "We want to militantly but nonviolently demonstrate in the face of the White House."

One Unit For All Purposes:

Montgomery Proposes Environmental Agency

By DAVE ANDREWS

Rep. George F. Montgomery of Detroit, who says that the block initials "GFM" lettered in Soapy Williams green on the side of his attaché case stand for "Good For Michigan," said Friday he believes an Environmental Safety Agency is needed to coordinate and direct anti-pollution efforts in Michigan.

Montgomery also had praise for college administrators in the state for their handling of student protests, noting that Michigan hasn't been forced to call out the National Guard anywhere to maintain order.

A candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, Montgomery was in Escanaba en route to Marquette where he will attend a testimonial dinner today for State Sen. Joseph Mack of Ironwood.

"I think the state government is the appropriate agency for the main thrust on environmental matters," Montgomery said, "but we don't need duplicate agencies."

One Agency Control

The Water Resources Commission, under the Department of Natural Resources, handles water pollution problems now and the State Dept. of Public Health works on air pollution, Montgomery said, and altogether seven or eight agencies have fingers in the pie.

There's no reason, he said, why one agency — an Environmental Safety Agency — could not take over the whole responsibility.

"It's really all the same problem," he said.

Montgomery, whose mother, the former Jesse Brown, was born in Chassell and grew up in Gladstone, said the environmental effort should be centered at the state level. The state is much closer to the problem than the federal government, he said, yet local control would result in wide variance of standards.

River Basin Units?

He said, however, that local control might be acceptable where standards exceeded those of the state, but cautioned against developing a patchwork of laws under which industry would migrate to the area of least resistance.

Montgomery said the environmental effort could be designed on a "regional or area" basis with control districts organized around major river basins. He said that while Michigan does not have the distinct hills and valleys that exist in some states, river basins also might be an appropriate unit for air pollution efforts because of geographic characteristics.

"State funding is needed," he said. "Local units already have enough expense ahead in financing their own projects."

Montgomery said he views air pollution problems as more critical than people think.

Air Burns Eyes

"It's a pleasure to come to the Upper Peninsula," he said. "There are days in Lansing and Detroit when the air burns my eyes."

Montgomery, 36, is serving his third term in the Legislature and is opposing State Sen. Sander Levin for the Democratic nomination for governor. This is his first trip to the Upper Peninsula since he announced his candidacy, while Levin toured the U.P. on the first days of his campaign.

"This is sort of like homecoming for me," Montgomery smiled, recalling many previous visits to the area. "It's nice to see my opponent is finally discovering the state."

Although he didn't specifically mention Vice President Spiro Agnew, Montgomery took exception to Agnew's criticism of University of Michigan President Robben Fleming as "spineless" and of other criticisms leveled at Michigan college administrators.

Not "Spineless"

"We should recognize a lot of our college administrators have done a good job," he said. "I don't think they've been spineless."

Montgomery said college presidents and administrators in Michigan have responded with "fairness and sensitivity" in sorting out the real campus issues from the national problems.

Montgomery, who is chairman of the Higher Education subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee, met with Dr. Richard Rinehart, president of Bay de Noc Community College, to discuss finances for the college. He said he tries to visit every college campus in the state periodically to get a "feel" for local situations that he can't get in Lansing hearings or over long-distance telephone lines.

He also met with a small group of Democratic leaders from Delta County at the House of Ludington before leaving for Marquette.

Michigan was the first state to establish roadside picnic tables.

Montgomery Proposes Environmental Agency

By DAVE ANDREWS

Rep. George F. Montgomery of Detroit, who says that the block initials "GFM" lettered in Soapy Williams green on the side of his attaché case stand for "Good For Michigan," said Friday he believes an Environmental Safety agency is needed to coordinate and direct anti-pollution efforts in Michigan.

Montgomery also had praise for college administrators in the state for their handling of student protests, noting that Michigan hasn't been forced to call out the National Guard anywhere to maintain order.

A candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, Montgomery was in Escanaba en route to Marquette where he will attend a testimonial dinner today for State Sen. Joseph Mack of Ironwood.

"I think the state government is the appropriate agency for the main thrust on environmental matters," Montgomery said, "but we don't need duplicate agencies."

One Agency Control

The Water Resources Commission, under the Department of Natural Resources, handles water pollution problems now and the State Dept. of Public Health works on air pollution, Montgomery said, and altogether seven or eight agencies have fingers in the pie.

There's no reason, he said, why one agency — an Environmental Safety Agency — could not take over the whole responsibility.

"It's really all the same problem," he said.

Montgomery, whose mother, the former Jesse Brown, was born in Chassell and grew up in Gladstone, said the environmental effort should be centered at the state level. The state is much closer to the problem than the federal government, he said, yet local control would result in wide variance of standards.

River Basin Units?

He said, however, that local control might be acceptable where standards exceeded those of the state, but cautioned against developing a patchwork of laws under which industry would migrate to the area of least resistance.

Montgomery said the environmental effort could be designed on a "regional or area" basis with control districts organized around major river basins. He said that while Michigan does not have the distinct hills and valleys that exist in some states, river basins also might be an appropriate unit for air pollution efforts because of geographic characteristics.

"State funding is needed," he said. "Local units already have enough expense ahead in financing their own projects."

Montgomery said he views air pollution problems as more critical than peole think.

Air Burns Eyes

"It's a pleasure to come to the Upper Peninsula," he said. "There are days in Lansing and Detroit when the air burns my eyes."

Montgomery, 36, is serving his third term in the Legislature and is opposing State Sen. Sander Levin for the Democratic nomination for governor. This is his first trip to the Upper Peninsula since he announced his candidacy, while Levin toured the U.P. on the first days of his campaign.

"This is sort of like homecoming for me," Montgomery smiled, recalling many previous visits to the area. "It's nice to see my opponent is finally discovering the state."

Although he didn't specifically mention Vice President Spiro Agnew, Montgomery took exception to Agnew's criticism of University of Michigan President Robben Fleming as "spineless" and of other criticisms leveled at Michigan college administrators.

Not "Spineless"

"We should recognize a lot of our college administrators have done a good job," he said. "I don't think they've been spineless."

Montgomery said college presidents and administrators in Michigan have responded with "fairness and sensitivity" in sorting out the real campus issues from the national problems.

Montgomery, who is chairman of the Higher Education subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee, met with Dr. Richard Rinehart, president of Bay de Noc Community College, to discuss finances for the college. He said he tries to visit every college campus in the state periodically to get a "feel" for local situations that he can't get in Lansing hearings or over long-distance telephone lines.

He also met with a small group of Democratic leaders from Delta County at the House of Ludington before leaving for Marquette.

Michigan was the first state to establish roadside picnic tables.

REP. GEORGE F. MONTGOMERY (D-Detroit), a candidate for governor, left, talks with Dr. Richard Rinehart, president of Bay de Noc Community College, during a brief visit to Escanaba Friday. Montgomery is chairman of the Higher Education subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee which makes recommendations on budgeting state funds for colleges and universities in the state. Wage Boost Of 7%?

City Salary Scale Unsettled As Yet

BY CLINT DUNATHAN

Escanaba citizens are being offered a "hold the line" city budget for 1970-71, a budget that has within it the promise of no new property taxes as a source of revenue to meet rising costs.

But there are cost elements of the proposed budget as yet unsettled, says City Manager George Harvey.

One is the cost of personal services — the wages and salaries paid by the city to approximately 160 permanent employees. The total for personal services represents about one-half the city's operating budget.

Although the final figure is indefinite, the raises will probably be around 7 per cent, the way negotiations are shaping up.

Tied To Industry

Largest number of city employees are in the Municipal Employees Union, and they have been offered 6 1/2 per cent, with 7 per cent possible if they agree to a two-year pact, said the city manager. The Municipal Employees have the offer under consideration.

Electrical department employees (Journeyman linemen) have a present hourly scale of $3.92 have their salary schedule pretty much tied to the wage scale established between Electrical Union and the U. P. Power Co. This guideline for the city was established by fact-finders last year.

The U. P. Power Co. and its electricians are now negotiating. The agreement will be the basis for the city's contract, it is expected.

Mediation Meeting

Escanaba policemen are members of the Teamsters Union. They have been offered 6 1/2 per cent boost by the city and it is still under consideration.

Escanaba firemen, also offered 6 1/2 per cent, have asked the Michigan Labor Mediation Board to step in. The city manager reports that the Mediation Board has assigned mediator Walter Quillico to the case and that a meeting with the firemen and the manager is scheduled to be held Monday, May 11.

The budget, totaling $4,050,467 (including all utilities) is also subject to change because "in all probability the budget figures for the water utility and waste water utility will be vastly modified at some time during fiscal 1970-71 due to the impending system modification plans."

Meeting Needs

Development and improvement of the water and waste water systems is deemed essential because of community growth and to meet public health standards.

Of the total budget (including $1,976,172 in general fund items) City Manager Harvey says:

"Foremost in my mind is the necessity to provide for the immediate needs of our citizens and not burden posterity with the debts of fiscal responsibility, as is so often the case if thought and planning are not incorporated in all our programs."

No Tax Increase

The manager's comments in transmitting the proposed budget to the Council include: "I think that the inevitable fact of life for all Michigan communities is that new sources of revenues must be found, or services must be curtailed."

"The City of Escanaba has no immediate source of additional revenue, therefore this budget contains reduced services, all of which will affect the citizens in one form or another."

The manager points out that the city tax rate of $16.50 per $1,000 assessed valuation remains unchanged. He says:

"The tax rate was not raised for two basic reasons: 1 — A desire to hold the line against rising costs, and demands for additional programs and services; and 2 — The amount of revenue that would be derived from a tax increase would not have a significant effect on planning and would only serve to prolong the inevitable."

Consolidation Issues Discussed At Meeting

HERMANVILLE — A public meeting for discussion of issues concerned in the consolidation of the Hermansville and Powers-Spaulding school districts was held Thursday evening at the Hermansville Community Club.

The boards of education from the two districts were present at the meeting along with approximately 70 people from the Hermansville and Powers area.

Superintendents Clifford Luft of Hermansville and Jerome Albright of Powers-Spaulding presented information regarding enrollments, state equalized valuation of the two districts, plans for next year and the near future in respect to curriculum development, legal procedures to follow after consolidation in respect to the organization of the district and facilities needed.

ization of the district and facilities needed.

Hermansville has an enrollment of 272 students and Powers-Spaulding has a total of 598, making the total enrollment of the two schools 868. The state equalized valuation of the two schools combined is $6,467,162 or an equalized valuation of $7,450 per child.

Within 10 days after the election, assuming it passes, the county board would appoint qualified electors of the district to act as a board for the said district. The appointed board would call a district election to be held within 45 days from the day of their first meeting to elect a new board.

Other items to be voted on at this time would include transportation, operating millage and board of education salaries.

A question and answer period followed and Lester Johnson, president of the Hermansville Board of Education, and Norman Kell, president of the Powers-Spaulding Board, made the closing comments.

Auto Parts Taken In Area Break-In

State Police are investigating the breaking and entering of the U. P. Motor Supply of the Pine Ridge area sometime Thursday night.

Officers said entry was made by breaking a window in the rear of the building and a rebuilt manifold with two carburetors valued at $75 was taken.

Permits Required For Shore Work, DNR Advises

Robert W. Timmer, Escanaba district law supervisor for the Department of Natural Resources, today reminded persons who intend to do any type of dredging or filling of any type in or along the shore of the Great Lakes or any inland waterway that a permit is needed from the DNR.

He listed the following regulations:

Great Lakes Submerged Lands Act

Unless a permit has been granted by the Department or authorization has been granted by the legislature it is unlawful to construct, dredge, commence or do any work with respect to an artificial canal, channel, ditch, lagoon, pond lake, or similar waterway where the ultimate connection thereof is with any of the Great Lakes or to connect any natural or artificially constructed waterway, canal, channel, ditch, lagoon, pond, lake, or similar waterway with any of the Great Lakes for navigation or any other purpose.

Before any work is undertaken a person must file an application with the Department. This specifically pertains to any work work being done below and lakeward of the natural ordinary high-water mark. For purposes of this Act the ordinary high-water mark shall be deemed to be at the following elevations above sea level, International Great Lakes Datum of 1955: Lake Superior, 601.5 feet; and Lake Michigan, 579.8 feet.

Timmer advises a survey has been completed indicating the ordinary high-water mark in the area from the Escanaba Yacht Harbor south to Breezy Point and around the entire Portage Point. If any question is raised as to this location, persons can contact the local Conservation Officer or the Department of Natural Resources office at Escanaba.

The law further states that any person who excavates or fills or in any manner alters or modifies any of the land or waters subject to the above provisions of this act without approval of the Department shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than one year or both such fine and imprisonment. Lands, the use of which are so changed, shall not be sold to any person convicted under this section at less than fair, cash market value.

All permits will be issued out of the Lansing office except any small routine maintenance permits which can be issued by the local Conservation Officer. Any operator working on any of these operations must have the permit in his possession when operating.

Inland Lake and Stream Act

— a riparian owner, except where a bulkhead line has been established under this act, shall obtain a permit from the Department of Natural Resources before he does any: Dredging, placing spoil or other materials, filling, erecting or extending any pier involving fill on bottomland; Erecting, maintaining, or operating a marina on bottomland; Erecting or extending a commercial or industrial pier on bottomland.

Persons intending to do any of the above should contact the local Conservation Officer as to making application for a permit, all permits issued from Lansing. Any person or operator doing any of the above work must have the permit in his possession prior to the beginning of said project.

The law states that a riparian owner may place structures or fill without a permit, to facilitate his private, noncommercial recreational use of the water if it does not involve a substantial fill or unreasonably interfere with use of the water by other riparians or the public. Any person who is convicted of violating any provision of this Act is guilty of a misdemeanor.

School Board Meets Tuesday

A proposal made by the Eskymo Fan Club to construct a new fieldhouse at the Escanaba Athletic Field will be among the main topics of discussion when the Escanaba Area Board of Education meets Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Franklin School.

Other items on the agenda for Tuesday's meeting are the approval of bus bids, approval of new teacher contracts, discussion on placing a millage issue on the ballot of the June 8 election, approval of election workers, setting the pay for election workers, discussion on dusk-to-dawn lights at the Soo Hill School, a new scholarship, the school calendar for 1970-71 and the community school total program.

Also listed on the agenda are several items of discussion from the superintendent, including principals' proposals, staff needs, the NDEA Title III program, the hot lunch survey and vocational education.

Self-Inflicted Gunshot Wound Kills Lawmaker

NEWTON, Mass. (AP) — Rep. James Shea, a young state legislator who authored a Massachusetts law aimed at testing the legality of the Vietnam war, died early today from a gunshot wound of the head.

Shea, 30, was found on the first floor of his home when police arrived after being called by his wife, Anita.

Police termed the wound "accidentally self-inflicted." They declined to give further details until after an autopsy.

Shea, in his first term in the House, introduced a bill making it illegal that a Massachusetts citizen be required to serve in the combat zone of a war undeclared by Congress.

In a recent interview, Shea said he sought the law "because this is the most pressing unresolved issue confronting American society in all levels of our government today."

Cities, County In Mayors' Exchange

Michigan counties as well as cities are joining the "Mayor Exchange" program as part of the observance of Michigan Week, and Escanaba, Gladstone and Delta County are among the leaders in the movement.

This year, for the first time, the event is being coordinated here at the county level, and county as well and municipal officials will participate in the "exchange" to be observed on Monday, May 18.

The day will bring to Delta County Mayor Kenneth Heineman, City of Muskegon Heights; Councilman John P. Sullivan of that city; and Frank Starika, vice chairman of the Muskegon County Board of Commissioners.

In the exchange of officials,

Escanaba Mayor Ronald DeVos and Delta County Board of Commissioners chairman Frank Stupak will travel to Muskegon Heights.

The events for the day here are being coordinated by Escanaba City Clerk Don Guindon and Administrative Assistant Gary LaPlante.

The Muskegon officials will arrive here Sunday morning, May 17, because they would like to enjoy some fishing at the head of Little Bay de Noc before settling down to the program events starting with a reception Sunday evening at the House of Ludington.

Monday, Mayors' Exchange Day of Michigan Week, will include an escort to the City Hall in the morning, where they will be greeted and presented with a key to the city by Mayor Pro-tem Robert Bink. The Jaycettes will serve coffee and doughnuts.

A tour of the city guided by the Senior Citizens, a noon luncheon at the House of Ludington attended by service club members, a boat trip on the bay, plane ride, and an evening dinner at the Terrace to which the public is invited will complete the day.

Wage Boost Of 7%?

City Salary Scale Unsettled As Yet

BY CLINT DUNATHAN

Escanaba citizens are being offered a "hold the line" city budget for 1970-71, a budget that has within it the promise of no new property taxes as a source of revenue to meet rising costs.

But there are cost elements of the proposed budget as yet unsettled, says City Manager George Harvey.

One is the cost of personal services — the wages and salaries paid by the city to approximately 160 permanent employees. The total for personal services represents about one-half the city's operating budget.

Although the final figure is indefinite, the raises will probably be around 7 per cent, the way negotiations are shaping up.

Tied To Industry

Largest number of city employees are in the Municipal Employees Union, and they have been offered 6½ per cent; with 7 per cent possible if they agree to a two-year pact, said the city manager. The Municipal Employees have the offer under consideration.

Electrical department employees (journeymen linemen) have a present hourly scale of $3.92 have their salary schedule pretty much tied to the wage scale established between Electrical Union and the U. P. Power Co. This guideline for the city was established by fact-finders last year.

The U. P. Power Co. and its electricians are now negotiating. The agreement will be the basis for the city's contract, it is expected.

Mediation Meeting

Escanaba policemen are members of the Teamsters Union. They have been offered 6½ per cent boost by the city and it is still under consideration.

Escanaba firemen, also offered 6½ per cent, have asked the Michigan Labor Mediation Board to step in. The city manager reports that the Mediation Board has assigned mediator Walter Quilloco to the case and that a meeting with the firemen and the manager is scheduled to be held Monday, May 11.

The budget, totaling $4,050,467 (including all utilities) is also subject to change because "in all probability the budget figures for the water utility and waste water utility will be vastly modified at some time during fiscal 1970-71 due to the impending system modification plans."

Meeting Needs

Development and improvement of the water and waste water systems is deemed essential because of community growth and to meet public health standards.

Of the total budget (including $1,976,172 in general fund items) City Manager Harvey says:

"Foremost in my mind is the necessity to provide for the immediate needs of our citizens and not burden posterity with the debts of fiscal responsibility, as is so often the case if thought and planning are not incorporated in all our programs."

No Tax Increase

The manager's comments in transmitting the proposed budget to the Council include:

"I think that the inevitable fact of life for all Michigan communities is that new sources of revenues must be found, or services must be curtailed.

"The City of Escanaba has no immediate source of additional revenue, therefore this budget contains reduced services, all of which will affect the citizens in one form or another.

The manager points out that the city tax rate of $16.50 per $1,000 assessed valuation remains unchanged. He says:

"The tax rate was not raised for two basic reasons: 1 — A desire to hold the line against rising costs, and demands for additional programs and services; and 2 — The amount of revenue that would be derived from a tax increase would not have a significant effect on planning and would only serve to prolong the inevitable."

Consolidation Issues Discussed At Meeting

HERMANVILLE — A public meeting for discussion of issues concerned in the consolidation of the Hermansville and Powers-Spaulding school districts was held Thursday evening at the Hermansville Community Club.

The boards of education from the two districts were present at the meeting along with approximately 70 people from the Hermansville and Powers area.

Superintendents Clifford Luft of Hermansville and Jerome Albright of Powers-Spaulding presented information regarding enrollments, state equalized valuation of the two districts, plans for next year and the near future in respect to curriculum development, legal procedures to follow after consolidation in respect to the organization of the district and facilities needed.

Hermansville has an enrollment of 272 students and Powers-Spaulding has a total of 596, making the total enrollment of the two schools 868. The state equalized valuation of the two schools combined is $6,467,162 or an equalized valuation of $7,450 per child.

Within 10 days after the election, assuming it passes, the county board would appoint qualified electors of the district to act as a board for the said district. The appointed board would call a district election to be held within 45 days from the day of their first meeting to elect a new board.

Other items to be voted on at this time would include transportation, operating millage and board of education salaries.

A question and answer period followed and Lester Johnson, president of the Hermansville Board of Education, and Norman Kell, president of the Powers-Spaulding Board, made the closing comments.

Auto Parts Taken In Area Break-In

State Police are investigating the breaking and entering of the U. P. Motor Supply of the Pine Ridge area sometime Thursday night.

Officers said entry was made by breaking a window in the rear of the building and a rebuilt manifold with two carburetors valued at $75 was taken.

Permits Required For Shore Work, DNR Advises

Robert W. Timmer, Escanaba district law supervisor for the Department of Natural Resources, today reminded persons who intend to do any type of dredging or filling of any type in or along the shore of the Great Lakes or any inland waterway that a permit is needed from the DNR.

He listed the following regulations:

Great Lakes Submerged Lands Act

Unless a permit has been granted by the Department or authorization has been granted by the legislature it is unlawful to construct, dredge, commence or do any work with respect to an artificial canal, channel, ditch, lagoon, pond lake, or similar waterway where the ultimate connection thereof is with any of the Great Lakes or to connect any natural or artificially constructed waterway, canal, channel, ditch, lagoon, pond, lake, or similar waterway with any of the Great Lakes for navigation or any other purpose.

Before any work is undertaken a person must file an application with the Department. This specifically pertains to any work work being done below and lakeward of the natural ordinary high-water mark. For purposes of this Act the ordinary high-water mark shall be deemed to be at the following elevations above sea level, International Great Lakes Datum of 1955: Lake Superior, 601.5 feet; and Lake Michigan, 579.8 feet.

Timmer advises a survey has been completed indicating the ordinary high-water mark in the area from the Escanaba Yacht Harbor south to Breezy Point and around the entire Portage Point. If any question is raised as to this location, persons can contact the local Conservation Officer or the Department of Natural Resources office at Escanaba.

The law further states that any person who excavates or fills or in any manner alters or modifies any of the land or waters subject to the above provisions of this act without approval of the Department shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than one year or both such fine and imprisonment. Lands, the use of which are so changed, shall not be sold to any person convicted under this section at less than fair, cash market value.

All permits will be issued out of the Lansing office except any small routine maintenance permits which can be issued by the local Conservation Officer. Any operator working on any of these operations must have the permit in his possession when operating.

Inland Lake and Stream Act — a riparian owner, except where a bulkhead line has been established under this act, shall obtain a permit from the Department of Natural Resources before he does any: Dredging, placing spoil or other materials, filling, erecting or extending any pier involving fill on bottomland; Erecting, maintaining, or operating a marina on bottomland; Erecting or extending a commercial or industrial pier on bottomland.

Persons intending to do any of the above should contact the local Conservation Officer as to making application for a permit, all permits issued from Lansing. Any person or operator doing any of the above work must have the permit in his possession prior to the beginning of said project.

The law states that a riparian owner may place structures or fill without a permit, to facilitate his private, noncommercial recreational use of the water if it does not involve a substantial fill or unreasonably interfere with use of the water by other riparians or the public.

Any person who is convicted of violating any provision of this Act is guilty of a misdemeanor.

School Board Meets Tuesday

A proposal made by the Eskymo Fan Club to construct a new fieldhouse at the Escanaba Athletic Field will be among the main topics of discussion when the Escanaba Area Board of Education meets Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Franklin School.

Other items on the agenda for Tuesday's meeting are the approval of bus bids, approval of new teacher contracts, discussion on placing a millage issue on the ballot of the June 8 election, approval of election workers, setting the pay for election workers, discussion on dusk-to-dawn lights at the Soo Hill School, a new scholarship, the school calendar for 1970-71 and the community school total program.

Also listed on the agenda are several items of discussion from the superintendent, including principals' proposals, staff needs, the NDEA Title III program, the hot lunch survey and vocational education.

Self-Inflicted Gunshot Wound Kills Lawmaker

NEWTON, Mass. (AP) — Rep. James Shea, a young state legislator who authored a Massachusetts law aimed at testing the legality of the Vietnam war, died early today from a gunshot wound of the head.

Shea, 30, was found on the first floor of his home when police arrived after being called by his wife, Anita.

Police termed the wound "accidentally self-inflicted." They declined to give further details until after an autopsy.

Shea, in his first term in the House, introduced a bill making it illegal that a Massachusetts citizen be required to serve in the combat zone of a war undeclared by Congress.

In a recent interview, Shea said he sought the law "because this is the most pressing unresolved issue confronting American society in all levels of our government today."

Cities, County In Mayors' Exchange

Michigan counties as well as cities are joining the "Mayor's Exchange" program as part of the observance of Michigan Week, and Escanaba, Gladstone and Delta County are among the leaders in the movement.

This year, for the first time, the event is being coordinated here at the county level, and county as well and municipal officials will participate in the "exchange" to be observed on Monday, May 18.

The day will bring to Delta County Mayor Kenneth Heineman, City of Muskegon Heights; Councilman John P. Sullivan of that city; and Frank Starika, vice chairman of the Muskegon County Board of Commissioners.

In the exchange of officials,

Escanaba Mayor Ronald DeVos and Delta County Board of Commissioners chairman Frank Stupak will travel to Muskegon Heights.

The events for the day here are being coordinated by Escanaba City Clerk Don Guindon and Administrative Assistant Gary LaPlante.

The Muskegon officials will arrive here Sunday morning, May 17, because they would like to enjoy some fishing at the head of Little Bay de Noc before settling down to the program events starting with a reception Sunday evening at the House of Ludington.

Monday, Mayors' Exchange Day of Michigan Week, will include an escort to the City Hall in the morning, where they will be greeted and presented with a key to the city by Mayor Pro-tem Robert Bink. The Jayceettes will serve coffee and doughnuts.

A tour of the city guided by the Senior Citizens, a noon luncheon at the House of Ludington attended by service club members, a boat trip on the bay, plane ride, and an evening dinner at the Terrace to which the public is invited will complete the day.

Home Rule

Delta County has taken the first step toward becoming a home rule county and it should be welcomed by residents of the area.

The Board of Commissioners approved a resolution last Tuesday night to place on the Aug. 16 primary ballot a question asking if the county should elect a charter commission for the purpose of drafting a home rule charter for Delta County. If approved, the county would elect five charter commissioners at the general election in November to write a Delta County charter. That charter, in turn, would have to be approved by voters at another election before its provisions would become effective.

Michigan's 1963 Constitution allowed for County home rule — self-determination of the mechanics of government, instead of the standard form provided in the Constitution — but left to the Legislature the details on how it was to be worked out. The Legislature hamstrung the procedure by requiring continued nonpartisan election of the main county offices (sheriff, clerk, treasurer and prosecuting attorney), but the benefits of home rule are still strong enough to make it worth while.

One of the main problems in county government as it stands is the lack of strong, effective leadership. The Board of Commissioners may have capable individuals, but each commissioner also has a full-time job to support himself and his family and cannot devote countless hours to county affairs and problems. Within the county government itself, each department head is responsible for his own domain and, similarly, doesn't have time or staff available to worry about the overall operation of the county.

And so the government tends to be fragmented and the Board of Commissioners is not always able to assemble the pieces into a smoothly running machine.

Some of those problems would continue to exist under a home rule charter as officials elected by the people have a certain security and they wouldn't have if their stays in office were determined by the board which pays their salaries. But certain things could be done to coordinate the governmental approach within the county and between the county and the cities of Escanaba and Gladstone, the Village of Garden and the townships.

Exactly what form that would take — the most commonly mentioned approach is that of a county manager appointed by the board of commissioners — would depend on the charter commission and the recommendations it makes. Almost any approach, however, would be an improvement.

There is great emphasis in government today on regionalized planning and coordination between units to avoid costly duplication of services and effort. People are being encouraged to look beyond their own communities to their neighbors with the thought that a joint approach may provide a better service or a better solution to a problem and do it cheaper for the taxpayer.

The Farmer's Home Administration in Washington on Friday announced a grant of over $80,000 to help rural areas in the six central Upper Peninsula counties develop orderly plans for water and wastewater facilities. Theory is that it doesn't make much sense to build two or three small systems if one larger one can do the same job for less money.

As regional planning and development is put into practice in the 1970s and 1980s, the county government can play a major role in Delta County progress. Home rule is necessary to provide the best possible base on which to work.

Peninsula Potpourri

Members of the Marquette Board of Education at their monthly meeting Tuesday afternoon approved a tentative levy of 22 mills for school operational costs for the 1970-71 school year after a budget report by R. Bond Perket, business manager. Perket informed the board that cuts amounting to approximately $150,000 have been made in original budget requests, but it appeared the school district would be unable to get by with any less than 13.15 mills provided the allocated millage remained the same as a year ago.

Equalized valuation and personal property in Gogebic County took a jump of nearly five million dollars to $54,597,373 — an all-time high for that county. The upturn, approved by the Gogebic County Board, is seen as evidence of the remarkable economic comeback of that county after the death of iron mining in 1966. Equalized valuation in Gogebic plummeted to a low of $42,015,018 after the mines closed, but climbed by $2,166,435 in 1968 and by $5,632,796 in 1969. County Tax Director Garner Merrick said that new industry accounted for about one and one-half million dollars of this year's gain.

A referendum asking for a one-mill tax increase in Gogebic and Ontonagon Counties for a joint vocational-technical training program is to be submitted to voters this summer. The two-county intermediate school district is to ask voters to approve the millage to provide approximately $94,000 to get the program started. Gogebic Community College was designated as the area facility in Gogebic County and will offer seven vocational-technical courses. No facility has been designated for Ontonagon County yet.

Major Milton E. Bays, commanding officer of the United States Air Force 753rd Radar Squadron at Sault Ste. Marie, has been named purchasing director at Lake Superior State College. The appointment will be effective July 1, when Bays retires from the Air Force after 20 years' service.

Several recent contributions to the Crystal Falls Community Hospital equipment fund have pushed the total to $47,004.62. Women of the United Lutheran Church in that city turned over $188.86 from a baked goods sale, while postal employees in Crystal Falls donated $100 from their coffee fund.

SITTIN' ON THE MARKET

Capitol Corner:

Milliken Machinery Starts To Warm Up

By DON HOENSHELL

Panax Staff Writer

LANSING — Gov. Milliken is off and running for election or the sun will rise gloriously in the west tomorrow.

There are Michigan For Milliken bumper stickers and a well-heeled citizens' committee.

S. John Byington, a Detroit communications executive and former brain-truster for both Govs. Romney and Milliken, led capitol newsmen through the traditional charade.

"Our first duty will be to convince the governor that he should run," he said.

He had given Milliken an advance copy of the prospectus for Michigan For Milliken, the citizens' group, and Byington reported there was no shock or dismay expressed.

"He (Milliken) was very pleased that a group of citizens of this caliber had agreed to sign on the dotted line to work for him," Byington said.

To Open Offices

The group will open offices in Lansing and Detroit and will have as executive secretary Mrs. Betty Finnigan, of Birmingham, presently holding the same job for Michigan's Partners for the Alliance.

Byington's list of citizens reads like a who's who of Michigan political life, including Detroit financier Max Fisher, Edward W. Cushman, former Romney aide at American Motors Corp and now a vice president at Wayne State University.

It also carries the names of Joseph L. Hudson, Daniel Gerber, Creighton Holden, L. William Seidman, Win Schulz, Alfred R. Clancy Jr.

Byington said the list contains persons from all geographical locations, every strata of the economy, the clergy — and also a number of defecting Democrats.

Lone U. P. Member

William Hettiger, deputy secretary of state to James M. Hare, and once mentioned as a candidate to be his boss' successor, showed up on the list.

The Rev. Louis Cappel, pastor of St. Anne's Church, Escanaba, is the only Upper Peninsula resident on the list.

Byington said the first chore for the group will be to circulate petitions, then to distribute bumper stickers and publish a campaign brochure.

He said that Milliken has

Jury Rejects Suit In Auto Accident

FLINT (AP) — A Genesee County Circuit Court jury has ruled against a Flint man who sought $25,000 damages in connection with an auto crash involving a city police car on an emergency run.

The verdict came this week against Wilbert Woods Jr., 23, who filed the suit last year alleging he was injured in the crash on the city's North Side Feb. 6, 1968. Woods' suit said he was a passenger in a car which collided with a police cruiser as the cruiser ran a red light en route to the scene of a drowning.

The cruiser's lights and siren were operating at the time of the accident, the city said.

One of the longest toll-free interstate highways in the nation is I-94, extending 275 miles between Port Huron and New Buffalo, Michigan.

made Michigan a national leader in all areas, including workers' compensation, environmental preservation, housing, crime control, education and urban affairs.

"Subsequently we will serve as a rallying point for anyone willing to work for the nomination and election of Bill Milliken," Byington said.

Named Running Mate

Milliken two weeks ago designated U. S. District Attorney James M. Brickley as his running mate for lieutenant governor without confirming that he, himself, would be a candidate.

It is traditional for a governor to wait until the last possible moment to announce, since as a candidate for office his words undergo a weight reduction and his forums shrink.

Governors have almost unlimited access to news columns and television and radio time, for example. Candidates must fend with the equal-time laws and newspaper critics rise to new heights of cynicism.

Thus explains the charade. Back in the capitol, State Representative George F. Montgomery (D-Detroit), also a candidate for governor on the Democratic side, also sees stirrings in the Milliken camp.

Letters To The Press

PLACING THE BLAME

I was first informed of the student shootings on Friday night when I was going off shift. At that time I said "I don't know the cause, but the students will become heroes and the Guard will be hung." How right I was. An example of this is the editorial of May 6.

It is stated, in part, "... at the time of the shootings the Kent State campus apparently was in an extremely volatile state."

Then you list the activities of some four days, and that the students were wrong and "perhaps the college president and Kent mayor were wrong in not talking to the student leaders."

Then comes the statement "and most assuredly the National Guardsmen who pulled the triggers on their rifles were wrong."

I would like to ask why? The unrest has been going on for some time at Kent College, even you seem to admit that. The National Guard was there to restore order because the students don't know how to behave as law-abiding citizens. The fact that the students were there shows they were in support of unlawful demonstrations and destruction which had been taking place, and wouldn't have been shot if they hadn't taken such action.

You also ask "why the National Guardsmen were carrying loaded rifles in the first place?" If you would read your own editorial, you wouldn't have to ask such a question.

What kind of games are going on? The only way to stop violence is with a show of force. The students said they didn't know the guns were loaded. Again I ask, "What kind of games are going on?" This is no lark but it is anarchy and it is time the students know it. It is time the guns are loaded and the students know about it and then you won't have any more pictures of students tearing up the American flag (the two on the front page of your paper most assuredly should be

"It's happened four times now," he said. "Everytime we schedule a press conference, the governor's office also schedules one for the same time."

Strange Spring

In a refinement of the technique, Montgomery said, Milliken's office occasionally cancels a news conference at the same time — thus leaving everybody with ballpoint pens poised and nothing to write.

Veteran politician — watchers here grope for words to describe the strangest election-year spring since the swallows arrived off-schedule at Capistrano.

Milliken names his lieutenant governor before he, himself, announces. Brickley said he can't be a candidate until the party calls him because he holds a federal job.

Hettiger, a Democrat under Hare, signs on as a Milliken booster. Hare, himself, is doing nice things for James C. Turner, the Howell publisher, who announced he would go against Milliken in the primary.

"Governor Milliken has been working hard for Michigan, so we intend to work hard for him and not let others do like-wise," Byington said.

Milliken will run.

It's like predicting tomorrow.

shot) or putting their bodies against the rifles and defying the guardsmen to do anything about it.

I wonder how your paper would react to a fire bomb being thrown into your building and being told it was just someone that didn't like what you wrote. This type of thing could happen here.

Let's put the blame where it belongs. That is with college presidents who are afraid to act; students who think it is fun to destroy; and people who want to overthrow the government by violent means. Not with people who are called to stop destruction and restore order.

QUITE A CONTRAST

Today, about 9 a.m., I was riding past the Garden grade school when a group of, I would say fourth graders, came racing out of the school up to the flag pole and stood as a group, looking up at the American flag with their little hands over their hearts and proceeded to pledge allegiance to the flag.

Tonight, I picked up the Escanaba Daily Press and there on the front page was a picture of two college students tearing up the American flag.

I would say that this is quite a contrast I have seen today. Let's get more of the pictures of what I saw this morning in the papers and less of what was in tonight's paper. Maybe these older students should take a lesson from the younger ones.

A fine declarer makes not only the contracts he's supposed to make, but also some that are impossible — or appear to be impossible — to make.

Even when a contract appears hopeless, the careful declarer will invariably burrow under the surface to see whether there is any conceivable distribution or method of play that will permit the hand to be made. It may well turn out that there is no satisfactory solution in such a case, but nevertheless the conscientious declarer is duty-bound to seek one.

Take this hand where South is in four spades and West leads a club. It would seem that declarer must lose two spades and two diamonds, and possibly a heart to boot.

But South made the hand, despite the bleak outlook, by adopting a method of play that gave him a legitimate shot at the contract. He ruffed the club in dummy and finessed the queen of hearts.

When the queen held, he ruffed another club and finessed the ace of hearts, everyone following suit, and ruffed his last club, the ace. Now he led dummy's established heart.

Had East trumped, South would have discarded a diamond to make the hand quite easily. But East made the better play of discarding the eight of diamonds. South throwing a diamond as West ruffed low.

West shifted to the king of diamonds, followed by the jack. Declarer ruffed and returned a trump, the A-K obligingly falling together on the trick. That was the third trick for the defense and the end of the hand.

Of course, South had to be lucky to find East with precisely three hearts to the king and to get a good trump division besides. But if you don't play for miracles of this sort, you're just not playing the game right.

Bill Introduced To Aid Housewife Seeking 'Bargains'

LANSING (AP) — How much does the "family" size detergent cost compared with the "giant economy" size? Are two rolls of 700-foot toilet tissue really cheaper than one roll of 1,500 feet? How many ounces really are in a "super quart"?

The shopping problem would be done away with under a bill introduced Thursday in the Michigan House proposing to require retailers to state the "unit price" of merchandise sold for personal consumption, care or household services.

The unit and total price would have to be shown in a grocery for the following items: Beer, bread, carbonated soft drinks, cereals, cooking oil, fish, meat, napkins, facial and toilet tissue.

Drugs, medicines and cosmetics would not be covered by the bill. Solids would have to be described according to their price per pound, liquids by the price per quart. Sale price of items sold in groups would have to be listed in lots of 50.

The bill's sponsor, Rep. David Serotkin, R-Mount Clemens, said he does not expect legislative action this year but thought preliminary hearings might be held.

Suicide Committed When Party Upset

Dear Ann Landers: One of my friends killed himself a few days ago. Nobody can figure out why he did it. He had brains, looks, money. And he was such a nice kid. I just can't believe it.

I didn't know him very well, but somehow I feel a terrible sense of guilt. I keep thinking if I had gotten to know him better I might have been able to help him.

The thought of death has always frightened and depressed me, but the death of a 17-year-old boy who had a whole great big, wonderful world ahead of him, is too horrible to contemplate. Why didn't someone recognize that this boy needed help and reach him before it was too late? Maybe my letter won't make any sense but I just had to express my feelings. Thank you for listening. — Port Jervis, N. Y.

Dear P.J.: I have no answers. I can only tell you the vast majority of suicides are committed during periods of black depression, or while the person is under the influence of alcohol or drugs.

Suicide is rarely a rational act. One of man's strongest instincts is the will to survive. A visit to any hospital will convince you that there is no desire so intense as man's desire to live.

Dear Ann Landers: This little poem is floating around the office. The Hairy Set won't appreciate it, but old folks like you and me will think it's pretty funny. Print it if you want to. —Titusville

Dear Titus: I'll overlook your reference to "old folks like you and me."

Home Rule

Delta County has taken the first step toward becoming a home rule county and it should be welcomed by residents of the area.

The Board of Commissioners approved a resolution last Tuesday night to place on the Aug. 16 primary ballot a question asking if the county should elect a charter commission for the purpose of drafting a home rule charter for Delta County. If approved, the county would elect five charter commissioners at the general election in November to write a Delta County charter. That charter, in turn, would have to be approved by voters at another election before its provisions would become effective.

Michigan's 1963 Constitution allowed for County home rule — self-determination of the mechanics of government, instead of the standard form provided in the Constitution — but left to the Legislature the details on how it was to be worked out. The Legislature hamstrung the procedure by requiring continued popular election of the main county offices (sheriff, clerk, treasurer and prosecuting attorney), but the benefits of home rule are still strong enough to make it worth while.

One of the main problems in county government as it stands is the lack of strong, effective leadership. The Board of Commissioners may have capable individuals, but each commissioner also has a full-time job to support himself and his family and cannot devote countless hours to county affairs and problems. Within the county government itself, each department head is responsible for his own domain and, similarly, doesn't have time or staff available to worry about the overall operation of the county.

And so the government tends to be fragmented and the Board of Commissioners is not always able to assemble the pieces into a smoothly running machine.

Some of those problems would continue to exist under a home rule charter as officials elected by the people have a certain security and they wouldn't have if their staves in office were determined by the board which pays their salaries. But certain things could be done to coordinate the governmental approach within the county and between the county and the cities of Escanaba and Gladstone, the Village of Garden and the townships.

Exactly what form that would take — the most commonly mentioned approach is that of a county manager appointed by the board of commissioners — would depend on the charter commission and the recommendations it makes. Almost any approach, however, would be an improvement.

There is great emphasis in government today on regionalized planning and coordination between units to avoid costly duplication of services and effort. People are being encouraged to look beyond their own communities to their neighbors with the thought that a joint approach may provide a better service or a better solution to a problem and do it cheaper for the taxpayer.

The Farmer's Home Administration in Washington on Friday announced a grant of over $80,000 to help rural areas in the six central Upper Peninsula counties develop orderly plans for water and wastewater facilities. Theory is that it doesn't make much sense to build two or three small systems if one larger one can do the same job for less money.

As regional planning and development is put into practice in the 1970s and 1980s, the county government can play a major role in Delta County progress. Home rule is necessary to provide the best possible base on which to work.

Peninsula Potpourri

Members of the Marquette Board of Education at their monthly meeting Tuesday afternoon approved a tentative levy of 22 mills for school operational costs for the 1970-71 school year after a budget report by R. Bond Perket, business manager. Perket informed the board that cuts amounting to approximately $150,000 have been made in original budget requests, but it appeared the school district would be unable to get by with any less than 13.15 mills provided the allocated millage remained the same as a year ago.

Equalized valuation and personal property in Gogebic County took a jump of nearly five million dollars to $54,597,373 — an all-time high for that county. The upturn, approved by the Gogebic County Board, is seen as evidence of the remarkable economic comeback of that county after the death of iron mining in 1966. Equalized valuation in Gogebic plummeted to a low of $42,015,018 after the mines closed, but climbed by $2,166,435 in 1968 and by $5,632,796 in 1969. County Tax Director Garner Merrick said that new industry accounted for about one and one-half million dollars of this year's gain.

A referendum asking for a one-mill tax increase in Gogebic and Ontonagon Counties for a joint vocational-technical training program is to be submitted to voters this summer. The two-county intermediate school district is to ask voters to approve the millage to provide approximately $94,000 to get the program started. Gogebic Community College was designated as the area facility in Gogebic County and will offer seven vocational-technical courses. No facility has been designated for Ontonagon County yet.

Major Milton E. Bays, commanding officer of the United States Air Force 753rd Radar Squadron at Sault Ste. Marie, has been named purchasing director at Lake Superior State College. The appointment will be effective July 1, when Bays retires from the Air Force after 20 years' service.

Several recent contributions to the Crystal Falls Community Hospital equipment fund have pushed the total to $47,004.62. Women of the United Lutheran Church in that city turned over $183.86 from a baked goods sale, while postal employees in Crystal Falls donated $100 from their coffee fund.

Capitol Corner:

Milliken Machinery Starts To Warm Up

By DON HOENSHELL
Panax Staff Writer
LANSING — Gov. Milliken is off and running for election or the sun will rise gloriously in the west tomorrow.

There are Michigan For Milliken bumper stickers and a well-heeled citizens' committee.

S. John Byington, a Detroit communications executive and former brain-truster for both Govs. Romney and Milliken, led capitol newsmen through the traditional charade.

"Our first duty will be to convince the governor that he should run," he said.

He had given Milliken an advance copy of the prospectus for Michigan For Milliken, the citizens' group, and Byington reported there was no shock or dismay expressed.

"He (Milliken) was very pleased that a group of citizens of this caliber had agreed to sign on the dotted line to work for him," Byington said.

To Open Offices
The group will open offices in Lansing and Detroit and will have as executive secretary Mrs. Betty Finnigan, of Birmingham, presently holding the same job for Michigan's Partners for the Alliance.

Byington's list of citizens reads like a who's who of Michigan political life, including Detroit Financier Max Fisher, Edward W. Cushman, former Romney aide at American Motors Corp and now a vice president at Wayne State University.

It also carries the names of Joseph L. Hudson, Daniel Gerber, Creighton Holden, L. William Seidman, Win Schuler, Alfred R. Clancy Jr.

Byington said the list contains persons from all geographical locations, every strata of the economy, the clergy — and also a number of defecting Democrats.

Lone U. P. Member
William Hettiger, deputy secretary of state to James M. Hare, and once mentioned as a candidate to be his boss' successor, showed up on the list.

The Rev. Louis Cappel, pastor of St. Anne's Church, Escanaba, is the only Upper Peninsula resident on the list.

Byington said the first chore for the group will be to circulate petitions, then to distribute bumper stickers and publish a campaign brochure.

He said that Milliken has

Jury Rejects Suit In Auto Accident

FLINT (AP) — A Genesee County Circuit Court jury has ruled against a Flint man who sought $25,000 damages in connection with an auto crash involving a city police car on an emergency run.

The verdict came this week against Wilbert Woods Jr., 23, who filed the suit last year alleging he was injured in the crash on the city's North Side Feb. 6, 1968. Woods' suit said he was a passenger in a car which collided with a police cruiser as the cruiser ran a red light en route to the scene of a drowning.

The cruiser's lights and siren were operating at the time of the accident, the city said.

One of the longest toll-free interstate highways in the nation is I-94, extending 275 miles between Port Huron and New Buffalo, Michigan.

made Michigan a national leader in all areas, including workmen's compensation, environmental preservation, housing, crime control, education and urban affairs.

"Subsequently we will serve as a rallying point for anyone willing to work for the nomination and election of Bill Milliken," Byington said.

Named Running Mate
Milliken two weeks ago designated U. S. District Attorney James M. Brickley as his running mate for lieutenant governor without confirming that he, himself, would be a candidate.

It is traditional for a governor to wait until the last possible moment to announce, since as a candidate for office his words undergo a weight reduction and his forums shrink.

Governors have almost unlimited access to news columns and television and radio time, for example. Candidates must fend with the equal-time laws and newspaper critics rise to new heights of cynicism.

Thus explains the charade. Back in the capitol, State Representative George F. Montgomery (D-Detroit), also a candidate for governor on the Democratic side, also sees stirrings in the Milliken camp.

Letters To The Press

PLACING THE BLAME
I was first informed of the student shootings on Friday night when I was going off shift. At that time I said "I don't know the cause, but the students will become heroes and the Guard will be hung." How right I was. An example of this is the editorial of May 6.

It is stated, in part "... at the time of the shootings the Kent State campus apparently was in an extremely volatile state." Then you list the activities of some four days, and that the students were wrong and "perhaps the college president and Kent mayor were wrong in not talking to the student leaders."

Then comes the statement "and most assuredly the National Guardsmen who pulled the triggers on their rifles were wrong."

I would like to ask why? The unrest has been going on for some time at Kent College, even you seem to admit that. The National Guard was there to restore order because the students don't know how to behave as law-abiding citizens. The fact that the students were there shows they were in support of unlawful demonstrations and destruction which had been taking place, and wouldn't have been shot if they hadn't taken such action.

You also ask "why the National Guardsmen were carrying loaded rifles in the first place?" If you would read your own editorial, you wouldn't have to ask such a question.

What kind of games are going on? The only way to stop violence is with a show of force. The students said they didn't know the guns were loaded. Again I ask, "What kind of games are going on?" This is no lark but it is anarchy and it is time the students know it. It is time the guns are loaded and the students know about it and then you won't have any more pictures of students tearing up the American flag (the two on the front page of your paper most assuredly should be

"It's happened four times now," he said. "Everytime we schedule a press conference, the governor's office also schedules one for the same time."

Strange Spring
In a refinement of the technique, Montgomery said, Milliken's office occasionally cancels a news conference at the same time — thus leaving everybody with ballpoint pens poised and nothing to write.

Veteran politician - watchers here grope for words to describe the strangest election-year spring since the swallows arrived off-schedule at Capistrano.

Milliken names his lieutenant governor before he, himself, announces. Brickley said he can't be a candidate until the party calls him because he holds a federal job.

Hettiger, a Democrat under Hare, signs on as a Milliken booster. Hare, himself, is doing nice things for James C. Turner, the Howell publisher, who announced he would go against Milliken in the primary.

"Governor Milliken has been working hard for Michigan, so we intend to work hard for him and elect others to do likewise," Byington said.

Milliken will run. It's like predicting tomorrow.

shot) or putting their bodies against the rifles and defying the guardsmen to do anything about it.

I wonder how your paper would react to a fire bomb being thrown into your building and being told it was just someone that didn't like what you wrote. This type of thing could happen here.

Let's put the blame where it belongs. That is with college presidents who are afraid to act; students who think it is fun to destroy; and people who want to overthrow the government by violent means. Not with people who are called to stop destruction and restore order.

QUITE A CONTRAST

Today, about 9 a.m., I was riding past the Garden grade school when a group of I would say fourth graders, came racing out of the school up to the flag pole and stood as a group, looking up at the American flag with their little hands over their hearts and proceeded to pledge allegiance to the flag.

Tonight, I picked up the Escanaba Daily Press and there on the front page was a picture of two college students tearing up the American flag.

I would say that this is quite a contrast I have seen today. Let's get more of the pictures of what I saw this morning in the papers and less of what was in tonight's paper. Maybe these older students should take a lesson from the younger ones.

Opening lead—queen of clubs. A fine declarer makes not only the contracts he's supposed to make, but also some that are impossible — or appear to be impossible — to make.

Even when a contract appears hopeless, the careful declarer will invariably burrow under the surface to see whether there is any conceivable distribution or method of play that will permit the hand to be made.

It may well turn out that there is no satisfactory solution in such a case, but nevertheless the conscientious declarer is duty-bound to seek one.

Take this hand where South is in four spades and West leads a club. It would seem that declarer must lose two spades and two diamonds, and possibly a heart to boot.

But South made the hand, despite the bleak outlook, by adopting a method of play that gave him a legitimate shot at the contract. He ruffed the club in dummy and finessed the queen of hearts.

When the queen held, he ruffed another club and finessed the jack of hearts. He then cashed the ace of hearts, everyone following suit, and ruffed his last club, the ace. Now he led dummy's established heart.

Had East trumped, South would have discarded a diamond to make the hand quite easily. But East made the better play of discarding the eight of diamonds. South throwing a diamond as West ruffed low.

West shifted to the king of diamonds, followed by the jack. Declarer ruffed and returned a trump, the A-K obligingly falling together on the trick. That was the third trick for the defense and the end of the hand.

Of course, South had to be lucky to find East with precisely three hearts to the king and to get a good trump discard besides. But if you don't play for miracles of this sort, you're just not playing the game right.

Bill Introduced To Aid Housewife Seeking 'Bargains'

LANSING (AP) — How much does the "family" size detergent cost compared with the "giant economy" size? Are two rolls of 700-foot toilet tissue really cheaper than one roll of 1,500 feet? How many ounces really are in a "super quart?"

The shopping problem would be done away with under a bill introduced Thursday in the Michigan House proposing to require retailers to state the "unit price" of merchandise sold for personal consumption, care or household services.

The unit and total price would have to be shown in a grocery for the following items:

Beer, bread, carbonated soft drinks, cereals, cooking oil, fish, meat, napkins, facial and toilet tissue.

Drugs, medicines and cosmetics would not be covered by the bill.

Solids would have to be described according to their price per pound, liquids by the price per quart. Sale price of items sold in groups would have to be listed in lots of 50.

The bill's sponsor, Rep. David Serotkin, R-Mount Clemens, said he did not expect legislative action this year but thought preliminary hearings might be held.

Dear Titus: I'll overlook your reference to "old folks like you and me." Speak for yourself, Chum. The poem is amusing and I thank you for sending it. Here 'tis:

Remember When...
Remember when hippie meant big in the hips,
And a trip involved travel in cars, planes and ships?

When pot was a vessel for cooking things in
And hooked was what grandmother's rug may have been?

When fix was a verb that meant mend or repair,
And Be-In meant merely existing somewhere?

When neat meant well-organized, tidy and clean?
And Grass was a ground cover, normally green?

When groovy meant furrowed with channels and hollows
And birds were winged creatures, like robins and swallows?

When fuzz was a substance, real fluffy, like lint,
And bread came from bakeries — and not from the mint.

When roll meant a bun, and rock was a stone,
And hang-up was something you did with the phone?

It's groovy, man, groovy, but English it's not.
Methinks that our language is going to pot.

Soo, Ontario, Mayor Stresses Need For Deep Water Harbor

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (AP) — Mayor John Rhodes is convinced that he could attract new industries to Sault Ste. Marie if the city had a deep water harbor.

And federal authorities assure him that funds would be available for the harbor if the city could provide evidence of a sufficient increase in demand to justify its construction.

It is the same type of chicken and egg conundrum that baffles expansion minded civic leaders throughout northeastern Ontario. They need better transportation facilities to lure business from the better provided South. And without assured traffic, the facilities are hard to obtain.

Not Distressed Area

The mayor concedes that his city of 75,000 can't be classed as a distressed area. Algoma Steel Corp. provides employment, directly or indirectly, for most of its labor force and the industry's prospects are as sound as any.

Algoma College provides freshman courses for 140 full time arts students, qualifying them to complete their studies at Laurentian University in Sudbury, with which Algoma is affiliated, or other Canadian institutions.

It shares a campus with the Sault campus of the Cambrian College of Applied Arts and Technology, a community college with an enrollment of 930.

Out Of Date Atmosphere
Downtown Sault Ste. Marie has the pleasantly relaxed, slightly out of date atmosphere that Edmonton or Calgary had before the Alberta oil boom, and many citizens appear to like it that way.

"Some people prefer it to stay the same size, providing amenities for 80,000 people," says Mayor Rhodes. "But their thinking is narrow. You just don't stand still — you go ahead or back."

The mayor is meeting determined resistance from a group of residents who oppose his efforts to establish a 30 acre industrial park in the east end of the city. Seven acres would be occupied by a steel products firm that wants to move onto the site from its present rented quarters.

Residents 'Upset'
Despite the mayor's assurance that only light industry would be permitted in the park, nearby residents fear the project would be disruptive to them and have taken their case to the Ontario Municipal Board.

Whatever the board decides,

Rhodes intends to push his program to acquire serviced land.

As part of Northern Ontario, the Sault is eligible for federal incentive grants of up to $12,000,000 towards establishing new plants and $6,000,000 for modernizing or expanding existing facilities.

But it is also one of the 22 Canadian cities affected by Finance Minister Benson's deferral of capital cost tax writeoffs for commercial construction.

One damn department doesn't know what the other department is doing," says Mayor Rhodes. "They just don't seem to know what is going on."

Wants Costs Cut

Apart from removal of the restriction, he would like the federal government to do something about the high transportation costs that plague Northern Ontario.

At the provincial level, he would like to see grants to supplement the federal capital incentives and increased assistance for installation of serviced land, a costlier process than in the south.

The mayor deplors the disappearance of good arable land in the Golden Horseshoe, particularly the Niagara Peninsula, to serve the needs of industry when Northern Ontario has land available on which "we can't even raise a disturbance."

Asks Tax Concessions

He would like the provincial government to allow northern municipalities to offer tax concessions to help a business get established in their area.

"We desperately need more industry," he says. "We just aren't growing."

He is particularly concerned about the lack of employment opportunities for women.

"If a woman's husband takes off on her or dies, she's in real trouble in this town. Unless she has secretarial training she would be unable to raise a family and make a decent living. She would wind up on welfare."

International Study

An eventual solution to the harbor problem has been proposed by an international joint study which recommends an international port serving both Sault Ste. Marie and its Michigan namesake across the St. Mary's River.

"The ramifications are fantastic," says Mayor Rhodes, but an almost endless series of negotiations involving federal state and provincial governments would be required to put it into effect.

Request Warrant For Father Who Killed 4 People

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit police say they will request a warrant today for Arville D. Garland, 45, who is being held in connection with the slayings of his 17-year-old daughter and three 18-year-old male companions.

Garland and his wife, Martha, surrendered to police after the Friday morning shootings in an apartment near Wayne State University.

Mrs. Garland was released after questioning. Killed were the Garland's daughter, Sandra; Anthony Shears, Craig Wells and Scott Kabran.

Police quoted other tenants at the apartment building as saying the parents had been attempting all this week to persuade their daughter to return home with them.

Police said Garland — armed with two handguns — forced his way into the second-floor apartment, breaking open the door with his shoulder. When he found his daughter inside, police said he "went berserk."

Bark River

Mrs. Walter Martin returned Sunday from White Bear Lake, Minn. where she visited with Mr. and Mrs. Roger Kniff. She also visited with Mrs. Louis Gasman, formerly Esther Wedell, who is a patient in Midway Hospital in St. Paul, Minn.

Mrs. I. R. Nelson returned Monday from Milwaukee where she attended the wedding of her granddaughter, Janis Braun to Daniel Paape, which took place in Our Redeemer Lutheran Church in Wauwatosa, Wis. on Saturday, May 2, at 4 p.m. Mrs. Nelson was accompanied to Milwaukee by Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Villeneuve of Escanaba who visited their son's family, the J. E. Villeneuves in Menominee Falls.

House Passes Bill To Help Control Waste

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan House has passed and sent to the Senate a bill requiring all Michigan businesses to keep track of any waste dumped into public waters, report it to the state and pay for the privilege.

The House voted 78-0 Friday for a bill that sets an annual fee of from $50 to $9,000 for any discharger except a municipality to help cover the cost of analyzing the strength and content of any "organic and inorganic waste constituents" piped into a sewer, river or lake.

This is the so-called "surveillance fee" called for by Gov. William Milliken.

Michigan manufacturers also would have to file monthly reports with the State Water Resources Commission showing all manufactured products and by-products, materials directly and incidentally used in that production and all waste products.

Information forwarded to the commission would be used only for pollution control and would be held confidential to avoid tipping a firm's developments to an industrial competitor.

The commission would be authorized to seek a court injunction against the business if it failed to make periodic reports.

In addition, the reports would have to show the total gallons of wastewater discharged into state waters or sewers in a given month.

Action on the bill, actually an amendment to another bill by the House Conservation Committee to toughen the commission's investigative power, comes in the wake of recent concern over mercury and cyanide discharges.

Industries and officials in both instances said they had been unaware that the waste products were being leaked out.

Vo-Tech School Proposal Loses

HANCOCK (AP) — Voters of Baraga, Keweenaw and Houghton counties have turned down proposed establishment of a vocational-technical school to serve Michigan's so-called Copper Country, where 75 per cent of high school graduates do not go on to college.

All three counties voted against the proposal which would have imposed a 3.75-mill tax and authorized a bond issue of $800,000 to build and equip the school. The total vote was 4,122 against and 1,580 for.

Time Marches On! Wrist Computer Being Developed

NEW YORK (AP) — Hamilton Watch Co. has introduced a computer to be worn on the wrist.

Called PULSAR, it is programmed to tell time, has no hands and no moving parts, and tells the time only when asked to do so.

Richard J. Blakinger, president of Hamilton, said PULSAR is "the world's first truly electronic portable timepiece."

"Since this advanced product is a fixed program computer, it is conceivable that other programs are possible and that some day in the future there will be a programmable wrist computer which would respond to a variety of useful programs personally selected by the wearer," he said.

Hamilton expects to begin PULSAR production in 1971. The price will be $1,500.

Market Trading Slowest For Year

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market drifted Friday to a moderate loss in the slowest trading of this year.

Brokers and investors were distracted from trading floor activities by a war-related demonstration on Wall Street outside the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials slipped 5.34 points to 717.73.

Volume of 6.93 million shares was the lowest since 6.76 million were traded last Dec. 26.

ELLEN BAKKA, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Waino Bakka of Rock, received an Associate in Arts degree from Suomi College at Hancock.

The graduation exercises were held Saturday, May 2, at Paavo Fieldhouse. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Bakka, her brother, Bill, and sister, Elaine. Ellen was selected for membership in Who's Who among college students in American Junior Colleges 1969-70. She was a cheerleader during her two years at Suomi and served as captain of the cheerleading team this past year. She graduated from Rock High School in 1968.

Michigan leads the nation in the production of red tart cherries, dry edible beans, blueberries, cucumbers for pickles and eastern white winter wheat.

HOW SWEET IT IS! (or is it?)

So the strike is over and you got that 10% raise! Another victory. The company can't pay it out of earnings, so the prices go up again and the customers will have to dig down deeper.

So, right now, those extra dollars look great. Let the customer worry about himself. But wait a minute. You forget that you are one of the customers who will have to dig down deeper. Actually, you (and all your fellow producers) employ yourself by buying back what you produce. Your spending provides the money for your payroll. And you pay the extra money.

Inflationary wage increases are hollow victories. Take yourself for example. Let's say that, during the last 10 years, you have moved up from $6,000.00 a year to $9,000.00 a year. That looks like a $3,000.00 increase. But do you know how much it has actually meant to your purchasing power? According to government figures, it is exactly $340.00.

What is so great about getting a raise and having to pay it right out?

America is in trouble today because we are forgetting the way to get a real raise; produce at least as much more as the raise represents. Otherwise, we are just playing with stage money.

Let's keep our eye on the production ball. If we don't, we can lose the ball game.

Here's the crystal ball that tells man's economic fortune. Let's spell it out. Man's material welfare (MMW) equals his natural resources (NR) plus the muscular and mental human energy (HE) he applies to them multiplied by the efficiency of his tools (T).

This is PRODUCTION, the source of all economic blessings. You are (HE). For your own sake and everybody else's, keep your eye on the ball.

Soo, Ontario, Mayor Stresses Need For Deep Water Harbor

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (AP) — Mayor John Rhodes is convinced that he could attract new industries to Sault Ste. Marie if the city had a deep water harbor.

And federal authorities assure him that funds would be available for the harbor if the city could provide evidence of a sufficient increase in demand to justify its construction.

It is the same type of chicken and egg conundrum that baffles expansion minded civic leaders throughout northeastern Ontario. They need better transportation facilities to lure business from the better provided South. And without assured traffic, the facilities are hard to obtain.

Not Distressed Area
The mayor concedes that his city of 75,000 can't be classed as a distressed area. Algoma Steel Corp. provides employment, directly or indirectly, for most of its labor force and the industry's prospects are as sound as any.

Algoma College provides freshman courses for 140 full time arts students, qualifying them to complete their studies at Laurentian University in Sudbury with which Algoma is affiliated, or other Canadian institutions.

It shares a campus with the Sault campus of the Cambrian College of Applied Arts and Technology, a community college with an enrollment of 930.

Out Of Date Atmosphere
Downtown Sault Ste. Marie has the pleasantly relaxed, slightly out of date atmosphere that Edmonton or Calgary had before the Alberta oil boom, and many citizens appear to like it that way.

"Some people prefer it to stay the same size, providing amenities for 80,000 people," says Mayor Rhodes. "But their thinking is narrow. You just don't stand still — you go ahead or back."

The mayor is meeting determined resistance from a group of residents who oppose his efforts to establish a 30 acre industrial park in the east end of the city. Seven acres would be occupied by a steel products firm that wants to move onto the site from its present rented quarters.

Residents 'Upset'
Despite the mayor's assurance that only light industry would be permitted in the park, nearby residents fear the project would be disruptive to them and have taken their case to the Ontario Municipal Board.

Whatever the board decides, the residents are 'upset'.

Dere Mommy, Happy Mothrs Day!

The red rose decorating the notebook paper is a little lopsided, and the spelling is awful. But what a wealth of love went into the message. I know, because I was the little girl who made it.

Now it's my little girl who struggles with pen and crayon to fashion a card of love for me.

And as I watch her I think of Mama — sliding down the back hill with us in Daddy's worn-out knickers, kneeling with us as she heard our prayers, singing sweetly Sunday mornings as she stood between us in the family pew. I remember her joy in life, the way her Christian faith glowed in everything she said and did.

Do you wonder that our church is a continuing source of joy and strength for me and my family?

Menominee — Jim Dubord of the Holy Name Crusaders and Gene Timmer of the Escanaba Eskymos were the only double winners in the Great Northern Conference meet held Friday, but even they were not enough to overcome the depth of the Menominee Maroons, who finished in first place with a total of 64½ points.

Timmer, a surprise double winner in the meet won both the high and low hurdles with a clocking of 16.3 seconds in the high and 22.1 in the low.

HN Golf Squad Captures 7th Straight Win

Escanaba Holy Name's golf team made it seven straight Friday as they handed the Gwinnett Model Towners a setback on the Escanaba Country Club greens.

Holy Name posted a score of 288 to Gwinnett's 351 to take the dual match.

Mickey Douglas and Pat Manning shared medalist honors, both carding 39s.

Tom Leferein had the low score for the visitors, posting a 47.

Other scores among the top seven on each team follow:

Holy Name: Robert Kleinman (40); Dave Fassbender (41); Brian Douglas (42); Don Lemire (43); Steve Kleinman (44). Gwinnett: Dan Negrinelli (48); Mike Minelli (49); Randy McKinney (49); Ward (51); Foster (53); Allen (54).

Menominee scoring points in nearly every event, had only four first place finishes to five for Holy Name but their overall depth staggered their Great Northern Conference foes from the opening event.

The Maroons John Beauparlant set a conference record in the high jump, sailing over the bar at six feet 3 3/4 inches to break the Paul Miller of Escanaba record of six feet two inches set in 1967.

Two other GNC records were broken by Iron Mountain in the mile relay, with a time of 3:38.7 and by the Mountaineers Doug Schupp in the 880 yard run with a time of 2:04.6.

In addition to Dubord's near record performance in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, the Crusaders got a share of first place finishes from Dan Young in the shot put with a heave of 49 feet eight and a quarter inches Bob McGinn in the first running of the 880 and Neil Odgers won a first for the first time ever in the second running of the 440 with a time of 54.6 seconds.

Disorders Cut Big Ten Play

CHICAGO (AP) — Campus disorders cut into the Big Ten baseball race with league-leading Ohio State bypassing a doubleheader at Michigan State Friday and another at Michigan Saturday.

With undefeated Ohio State idle and the possibility of the postponed games being made up later, Minnesota moved into second place with a double victory over Wisconsin.

The Gophers knocked Wisconsin out of second place with 3-0 and 4-3 victories and edged with in one game of Ohio State which still leads the pack with an 8-0 record.

Indiana converted a double victory by whipping Michigan 2-1 and 2-0 while Iowa and Northwestern split a doubleheader at Iowa City.

Iowa took the first game 3-0 and Northwestern recorded its first conference win, 4-2. Purdue and Illinois were not scheduled.

Scott Stein's bases-loaded single, his first Big Ten hit of the season, gave Minnesota a 4-3, extra-inning victory over Wisconsin. Dave Cosgrove shutout the Badgers on seven hits in the opener.

A ruling must be forthcoming on Ohio State's status as far as the conference championship is concerned. Either the Buckeyes will have an opportunity to make up the games or they will have to forfeit and thereby possibly lose out on the Big Ten title.

Rozelle Sees Artificial Turf

CHICAGO, Ill. (AP) — Commissioner Pete Rozelle predicted Friday that professional football within the next decade would expand from 26 to 32 teams and play will be entirely on artificial turf.

Rozelle expects two 16 team conferences broken down into four club divisions with an international flavor including perhaps Mexico City and Hawaii.

He said the merger of the National and American Football League produced an attendance increase of 80% between 1965 and 1969, lifting the overall turnstile count from 8 million to 13 million.

With 1970 marking the first NFL-AFL interplay, the 26 consolidated clubs already have sold one million advance season tickets, Rozelle said.

Eight of the 26 club now are playing on artificial turf, the commissioner said, and "within a few years" he expected all teams would be cavorting on weather defying phony grass.

Rozelle touched on the use of drugs by athletes and possible avoidance of schedule conflicts by pro sports.

"Perhaps in time the various commissioners can work something out to minimize season overlapping and conflict," he said. "We (pro football) can't go any earlier because of baseball and we can't go any later because of the weather."

"The period of January to April might be considered for pro football, but there you still have a big weather problem."

Rozelle said he was concerned about drugs and medications to keep a player in action which "sometimes was done in the past, but should be avoided in the future."

Michigan State's gymnastics team was senior co-captain Bruce Richards of Tacoma, Wash., carrying a 3.29 all-university average in electrical engineering. He placed in three events in the 1970 Big Ten meet.

Tigers' Pitching Collapses; Kansas City Triumphs 9-3

DETROIT (AP) — The major league pitching career of Kansas City rookie Bob Johnson almost ended on a lonely gravel road in 1967—before the career ever got started.

But any signs of his critical 1967 motorcycle accident seemed long gone as Johnson won his first major league decision as the Royals crushed the Detroit Tigers 9-3 Thursday night.

Six first inning runs against two Tiger pitchers led to the victory and ended a four-game losing streak for KC, which is in last place in the West Division of the American League.

Meanwhile, the Tigers lost their sixth game in the last eight to fall 3½ games behind first-place Baltimore in the East, but they are one game ahead of third place Boston.

Lolich Next

Mickey Lolich, 4-3, was expected to start today's game for Detroit against Jim Rooker, 1-2, of Kansas City.

"One doctor said I'd never play pro ball again," Johnson recalled. "He said I'd be lucky to save my leg."

"God or somebody — was on my side," he added, as he soaked his right arm in a tub of ice in the Royals dressing room.

The accident occurred when Johnson was pitching for Williamsport, a Houston farm club in the New York-Pennsylvania League. His left ankle was broken and his calf pretty well chewed up.

"Two specialists recommended amputation," he said calmly.

"But our team doctor who knew me said there was a 50-50 chance of saving it and so they didn't amputate. They were thinking of giving me an artificial leg from the knee down."

Recovers From Injury

But 2½ months later he was pitching again. He only pitched 53 innings that year and 33 the next at Tidewater in the New York Mets organization. He was in military service in 1968, but in 1969 at Memphis he had a 13-4 record in 134 innings, leading the Texas League with a 1.48 earned-run-average. It earned him a late season promotion to the Mets where he allowed one hit in two innings total.

He came to the Royals with outfielder Amos Otis last December in a trade for Joe Foy.

"Breaking in as a pitcher with the Mets is tough," he reasoned. "At first I was upset (about the trade) but I said, well, I've got to be a starter in Kansas City."

"It was his second real fine performance," said Royals manager Charlie Metro. "He made us look real good."

Johnson struck out 10 in eight innings without a decision in his first start last week. Friday he fanned eight and scattered seven hits, including solo homers by Dalton Jones in the fourth inning and Bill Freehan in the seventh.

Pitchers Bombed

The wavy-haired Johnson, who is 27, was naturally pleased with the win but said: "I think it would be more thrilling if I were younger, like 21 or 22."

Bob Oliver and rookie Rich Severson each drove in two runs in the first inning flurry. Tigers' starter Mike Kilkenny, 2-1, walked the first two batters and was then rocked by a run-scoring double by Otis, followed by Oliver's two-run single.

That brought in reliever Tom Timmerman, who fared no better. Paul Schaaf nicked him for a single and Severson smacked a sacrifice fly by Rodriguez on a sacrifice fly by Ellie Rodriguez.

A double by Oliver, a wild pitch, singles by Lou Piniella and Schaaf, plus another sacrifice fly by Rodriguez gave KC two more runs in the third. The Royals completed the rout on Oliver's run-scoring single in the ninth.

Detroit scored an unearned run in the first on a single by Dick McAuliffe, a walk, passed ball, and a single by Willie Horton.

Piniella's single extended his hitting streak to a Kansas City record of 14. He sprained his left ankle and bruised his instep tumbling safely at home plate in the third. It isn't known how long he'll be out of the lineup.

Home Runs Highlight National League Play

By The Associated Press

Going . . . going . . . gone.

That was the National League story Friday as big sluggers and light hitters alike zeroed in on the fences for a record 30 home runs in a mere seven games.

It was the most ever hit in one day in the NL—the old mark was 28 in eight games on July 8, 1962—and matched the American and major league record set June 10, 1962, and repeated June 14, 1964, both times in 10 games.

You couldn't blame the pitchers for suspecting that someone had slipped in the juiced-up experimental baseball as one after another shot over the fences.

Willie Mays of the Giants, Tony Perez and Hal McRae of the Reds, Billy Williams of the Cubs and Bob Robertson of the Pirates walloped two apiece to set the pace. But the list also included blasts by such unrenowned sluggers as Van Kelly, Chris Cammarzo, Bob Barton and Dave Campbell of the Padres. Gary Sutherland of the Expos, Byron Browne of the Phillies and Hal King of the Braves. Even relief pitcher Dave Roberts of the Padres got into the act, and his was the last one of the night to equal the AL standard.

When the bombing had subsided, these were the results: Chicago Cubs 10, Cincinnati 7; Atlanta 8, St. Louis 7; San Francisco 9, New York Mets 1; Houston 7, Pittsburgh 5; Los Angeles 8, Philadelphia 4 in 12 innings; San Diego 11, Montreal 1 in the opener of a two-nighter and Montreal 7, San Diego 6 in the 11-inning nightcap.

The Cubs and Reds combined for nine homers in their slugfest, with Williams driving in four runs as Chicago's six-game losing streak and Cincinnati's string of eight victories ended.

Besides Williams, Perez and McRae, J. C. Martin and Jim Hickman of the Cubs and Johnny Bench of the Reds also homered.

King's solo homer in the seventh inning enabled the Braves to edge the Cardinals. It served the Cards right since they were the only team that didn't contribute to the home run barrage.

Hank Aaron got the Braves even in the sixth with a three-run homer off Bob Gibson, his 12th of the season. Rio Carty extended his hitting streak to 26 games with an infield single and the Braves matched their longest winning skein—10 games—since they moved from Milwaukee.

Mays showed his old New York fans a thing or two and his two homers—career Nos. 605 and 606—helped rookie Miguel Puentes to his first big league triumph.

Bobby Bonds hit an inside-the-park shot for the Giants while New York's Ken Boswell spoiled Puentes' shutout bid with a solo shot in the eighth.

Tommie Agee of the Mets set a club record by hitting in his 19th straight game.

Pitcher Jim Ray's infield hit broke a sixth-inning deadlock and Joe Morgan followed with a two-run triple to spark Houston past Pittsburgh, despite Robertson's two homers. Doug Rader connected for the Astros.

The Dodgers snapped a 4-4 tie with Philadelphia in the 12th on two-out doubles by Willie Davis and Wes Parker and Bill Sudak is led it with a three-run homer. The Phillies had tied it with three late-inning solo shots — by Browne, Deion Johnson and Don Money.

Two-run homers by Kelly and Cammarzo highlighted San Diego's first-game victory but Montreal won the nightcap when Gary Ross wild - pitched the winning run home from third base. The Padres wasted home runs by Nate Colbert, Barton, Campbell and Roberts. Rusty Staub homered for the Expos.

Kaline Banks On Fan Support

NEW YORK, N.Y. (AP) — Al Kaline, veteran outfielder for the Detroit Tigers, is counting on votes from baseball fans to make the American League All-Star team this year at Cincinnati July 14 for the 14th time.

Kaline, hampered by injuries the last two seasons, was omitted from the list of 48 AL players nominated Thursday by managers and players.

"The fans' vote on the candidates will determine the actual selections. There is an empty space for write-in choices and Kaline is counting on fan support. 'It could happen,' said Kaline. 'Anyway you make it an honor, but if people went to all that trouble of write-ins maybe it would be more of an honor.'"

Orioles', Twins' Power Explodes

By The Associated Press

National League baseball might have a corner on the home run market today, but Joe Cronin's monogrammed stock is getting a long ride too—off the bats of Harmon Killebrew and Boog Powell.

While NL hitters were piling a record 30 home runs Friday, Minnesota's Killebrew and Baltimore's Powell continued their torrid long ball pace for the American League division leaders.

Killebrew slammed his fifth homer in as many games as the Twins nipped Cleveland 7-6 to remain atop the West Division and Powell swatted his eighth homer in 14 games, propelling the East Division leading Orioles to a 6-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

The homers, ninth of the season for each slugger, were among 12 hit in the AL, where league President Cronin's signature adorns the horsehide.

Jim Spencer and Roger Repoz accounted for three runs with homers in California's 4-2 nod over the New York Yankees; Sal Bando knocked in four runs with a homer and single as Oakland drubbed Boston 7-1 and Kansas City mauled Detroit 9-3 in other games.

Killebrew's two-run wallop in the fifth inning gave Minnesota a 4-2 lead, but the Indians struck for four runs in the sixth, the last three on a homer by rookie Ray Foster.

The Twins pulled it out in the seventh on George Mitterwald's two-run blast and a run-scoring single by Tony Oliva.

Powell tied Milwaukee's Danny Walton for the league RBI lead, by smacking a three-run homer in the first inning that sent the Orioles on the way to their fourth consecutive victory. The big first baseman has delivered 25 runs, 11 of them in four games against the White Sox.

The Angels stayed within one-half game of Minnesota in the West by surviving a two-run ninth inning homer by New York's Ron Woods after Spencer's two-run shot in the third and Repoz' leadoff homer in the seventh built a 4-1 lead.

Spencer also stroked two singles, raising his league-leading batting average to .391.

Chuck Dobson, backed by Bando's slugging, blazed the Red Sox on three hits until the ninth, when Carl Yastrzemski ruined the shutout bid with a leadoff homer. Dave Duncan drilled an inside-the-par homer for the A's.

HN Golf Squad Captures 7th Straight Win

Escanaba Holy Name's golf team made it seven straight Friday as they handed the Gwinnett Model Towners a setback on the Escanaba Country Club greens.

Holy Name posted a score of 288 to Gwinnett's 351 to take the dual match.

Mickey Douglas and Pat Manning shared medalist honors, both carding 39s.

Tom Lederling had the low score for the visitors, posting a 47.

Other scores among the top seven on each team follow:

Holy Name: Robert Kleiman (40); Dave Fassbender (41); Brian Douglas (42); Don Lemire (43); Steve Kleiman (44); Gwinnett: Dan Negrinelli (48); Mike Minelli (49); Randy McKinney (49); Ward (51); Foster (53); Allen (54).

Menominee scoring points in nearly every event, had only four first place finishes to five for Holy Name but their overall depth staggered their Great Northern Conference foes from the opening event.

The Maroons John Beauparlant set a conference record in the high jump, sailing over the bar at six feet 3¾ inches to break the Paul Miller of Escanaba record of six feet two inches set in 1967.

Two other GNC records were broken by Iron Mountain in the mile relay, with a time of 3:38.7 and by the Mountaineers Doug Schupp in the 880 yard run with a time of 2:04.6.

In addition to Dubord's near record performance in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, the Crusaders got a share of first place finishes from Dan Young in the shot put with a heave of 49 feet eight and a quarter inches Bob McGinn in the first running of the 880 and Neil Odgers won a first for the first time ever in the second running of the 440 with a time of 54.6 seconds.

Other point producers for the Crusaders were Gary Corbett

Disorders Cut Big Ten Play

CHICAGO (AP) — Campus disorders cut into the Big Ten baseball race with league-leading Ohio State bypassing a doubleheader at Michigan State Friday and another at Michigan Saturday.

With undefeated Ohio State idle and the possibility of the postponed games being made up later, Minnesota moved into second place with a double victory over Wisconsin.

The Gophers knocked Wisconsin out of second place with 3-0 and 4-3 victories and edged within one game of Ohio State which still leads the pack with an 8-0 record.

Indiana converted a double victory by whipping Michigan 2-1 and 2-0 while Iowa and Northwestern split a doubleheader at Iowa City.

Iowa took the first game 3-0 and Northwestern recorded its first conference win, 4-2, Purdue and Illinois were not scheduled.

Scott Stein's bases-loaded single, his first Big Ten hit of the season, gave Minnesota a 4-3, extra-inning victory over Wisconsin. Dave Cosgrove shutout the Badgers on seven hits in the opener.

A ruling must be forthcoming on Ohio State's status as far as the conference championship is concerned. Either the Buckeyes will have an opportunity to make up the games or they will have to forfeit and thereby possibly lose out on the Big Ten title.

Rozelle Sees Artificial Turf

CHICAGO, Ill. (AP) — Commissioner Pete Rozelle predicted Friday that professional football within the next decade would expand from 26 to 32 teams and play will be entirely on artificial turf.

Rozelle expects two 16 team conferences broken down into four club divisions with an international flavor including perhaps Mexico City and Hawaii.

He said the merger of the National and American Football League produced an attendance increase of 60% between 1965 and 1969, lifting the overall turnover count from 8 million to 13 million.

With 1970 marking the first NFL-AFL interplay, the 26 consolidated clubs already have sold one million advance season tickets, Rozelle said.

Eight of the 26 club now are playing on artificial turf, the commissioner said, and "within a few years" he expected all teams would be coveting on weather defying phony grass.

Rozelle touched on the use of drugs by athletes and possible avoidance of schedule conflicts by pro sports.

"Perhaps in time the various commissioners can work something out to minimize season overlapping and conflict," he said. "We (pro football) can't go any earlier because of baseball and we can't go any later because of the weather."

"The period of January to April might be considered for pro football, but there you still have a big weather problem."

Rozelle said he was concerned about drugs and medications to keep a player in action which "sometimes was done in the past, but should be avoided in the future."

Tigers' Pitching Collapses; Kansas City Triumphs 9-3

DETROIT (AP) — The major league pitching career of Kansas City rookie Bob Johnson almost ended on a lonely gravel road in 1967—before the career ever got started.

But any signs of his critical 1967 motorcycle accident seemed long gone as Johnson won his first major league decision as the Royals crushed the Detroit Tigers 9-3 Thursday night.

Six first inning runs against two Tiger pitchers led to the victory and ended a four-game losing streak for KC, which is in last place in the West Division of the American League.

Meanwhile, the Tigers lost their sixth game in the last eight to fall 3½ games behind first-place Baltimore in the East, but they are one game ahead of third place Boston.

Lolich Next

Mickey Lolich, 4-3, was expected to start today's game for Detroit against Jim Rooker, 1-2, of Kansas City.

"One doctor said I'd never play pro ball again," Johnson recalled. "He said I'd be lucky to save my leg."

"God or somebody — was on my side," he added, as he soaked his right arm in a tub of ice in the Royals dressing room.

The accident occurred when Johnson was pitching for Williamsport, a Houston farm club in the New York-Pennsylvania League. His left ankle was broken and his calf pretty well chewed up.

"Two specialists recommended amputation," he said calmly.

"But our team doctor who knew me said there was a 50-50 chance of saving it and so they didn't amputate. They were thinking of giving me an artificial leg from the knee down."

Recovers From Injury

But 2½ months later he was pitching again. He only pitched 53 innings that year and 33 the next at Tidewater in the New York Mets organization. He was in military service in 1968, but in 1969 at Memphis he had a 13-4 record in 134 innings, leading the Texas League with a 1.48 earned-run-average. It earned him a late season promotion to the Mets where he allowed one hit in two innings total.

He came to the Royals with outfielder Amos Otis last December in a trade for Joe Foy.

"Breaking in as a pitcher with the Mets is tough," he reasoned. "At first I was upset (about the trade) but I said, well, I've got to be a starter in Kansas City."

"It was his second real fine performance," said Royals manager Charlie Metro. "He made us look real good."

Johnson struck out 10 in eight innings without a decision in his first start last week. Friday he fanned eight and scattered seven hits, including solo homers by Daulton Jones in the fourth inning and Bill Freehan in the seventh.

Pitchers Bombed

The wavy-haired Johnson, who is 27, was naturally pleased with the win but said: "I think it would be more thrilling if I were younger, like 21 or 22."

Bob Oliver and rookie Rich Severson each drove in two runs in the first inning flurry. Tigers' starter Mike Kilkenny, 2-1, walked the first two batters and was then rocked by a run-scoring double by Otis, followed by Oliver's two-run single.

That brought in reliever Tom Timmerman, who fared no better. Paul Schaaf nicked him for a single and Severson smacked a two-run triple, then scored on a sacrifice fly by Ellie Rodriguez.

A double by Oliver, a wild pitch, singles by Lou Piniella and Schaaf, plus another sacrifice fly by Rodriguez gave KC two more runs in the third. The Royals completed the rout on Oliver's run-scoring single in the ninth.

Detroit scored an unearned run in the first on a single by Dick McAuliffe, a walk, passed ball, and a single by Willie Horton.

Piniella's single extended his hitting streak to a Kansas City record of 14. He sprained his left ankle and bruised his instep tumbling safely at home plate in the third. It isn't known how long he'll be out of the lineup.

Home Runs Highlight National League Play

By The Associated Press

Going ... going ... gone.

That was the National League story Friday as big sluggers and light hitters alike zeroed in on the fences for a record 30 home runs in a mere seven games.

It was the most ever hit in one day in the NL—the old mark was 28 in eight games on July 8, 1962—and matched the American and major league record set June 10, 1962, and repeated June 14, 1964, both times in 10 games.

You couldn't blame the pitchers for suspecting that someone had slipped in the juiced-up experimental baseball as one after another shot over the fences.

Willie Mays of the Giants, Tony Perez and Hal McRae of the Reds, Billy Williams of the Cubs and Bob Robertson of the Pirates walloped two apiece to set the pace. But the list also included blasts by such unrenowned sluggers as Van Kelly, Chris Cannizzaro, Bob Barton and Dave Campbell of the Padres, Gary Sutherland of the Expos, Byron Browne of the Phillies and Hal King of the Braves. Even relief pitcher Dave Roberts of the Padres got into the act, and his was the last one of the night to equal the AL standard.

When the bombing had subsided, these were the results: Chicago Cubs 10, Cincinnati 7; Atlanta 8, St. Louis 7; San Francisco 7, New York Mets 1; Houston 7, Pittsburgh 5; Los Angeles 8, Philadelphia 4 in 12 innings; San Diego 11, Montreal 1 in the opener of a two-nighter and Montreal 7, San Diego 6 in the 11-inning nightcap.

The Cubs and Reds combined for nine homers in their slugfest, with Williams driving in four runs as Chicago's six-game losing streak and Cincinnati's string of eight victories ended.

Besides Williams, Perez and McRae, J. C. Martin and Jim Hickman of the Cubs and Johnny Bench of the Reds also homered.

King's solo homer in the seventh inning enabled the Braves to edge the Cardinals. It served the Cards right since they were the only team that didn't contribute to the home run barrage.

Hank Aaron got the Braves even in the sixth with a three-run homer off Bob Gibson, his 12th of the season. Rio Carty extended his hitting streak to 26 games with an infield single and the Braves matched their longest winning skein—10 games—since they moved from Milwaukee.

Mays showed his old New York fans a thing or two and his two homers—career Nos. 605 and 606—helped rookie Miguel Puentes to his first big league triumph.

Bobby Bonds hit an inside-the-park shot for the Giants while New York's Ken Boswell spoiled Puentes' shutout bid with a solo shot in the eighth.

Tommie Agee of the Mets set a club record by hitting in his 19th straight game.

Pitcher Jim Ray's infield hit broke a sixth-inning deadlock and Joe Morgan followed with a two-run triple to spark Houston past Pittsburgh, despite Robertson's two homers. Doug Rader connected for the Astros.

The Dodgers snapped a 4-4 tie with Philadelphia in the 12th on two-out doubles by Willie Davis and Wes Parker and Bill Sudak was iced it with a three-run homer. The Phillies had tied it with three late-inning solo shots —by Browne, Deron Johnson and Don Moneys.

Two-run homers by Kelly and Cannizzaro highlighted San Diego's first-game victory but Montreal won the nightcap when Gary Ross wild - pitched the winning run home from third base. The Padres wasted home runs by Nate Colbert, Barton, Campbell and Roberts. Rusty Staub homered for the Expos.

Kaline Banks

On Fan Support

NEW YORK, N.Y. (AP)—Al Kaline, veteran outfielder for the Detroit Tigers, is counting on votes from baseball fans to make the American League All-Star team this year at Cincinnati July 14 for the 14th time.

Kaline, hampered by injuries the last two seasons, was omitted from the list of 48 AL players nominated Thursday by managers and players.

The fans' vote on the candidates will determine the actual selections. There is an empty space for write-in choices and Kaline is counting on fan support. "It could happen," said Kaline. "Anyway you make it an honor, but if people went to all that trouble of write-ins maybe it would be more of an honor."

Knicks Win Championship; Ailing Reed Inspires Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Where there's a Willis, there's a way. And the New York Knicks found that way behind pain-ravaged Willis Reed Friday night, beating the Los Angeles Lakers with surprising ease 113-99 to win the National Basketball Association title.

New York's ace center, playing "because there's no tomorrow" and loaded with pain-killing cortisone, provided a physical and inspirational lift to give the Knicks their first championship in the final, seventh game before a deafening full house at Madison Square Garden.

"The fans were just great, and I didn't want to disappoint them," Reed said in the champagne-drenched euphoria of the winner's dressing room. "When I was warming up, there was a lot of questions in my mind. 'I said to myself, you must do the job ... your team needs you.'"

Shows Desire
"Probably a lot of guys wouldn't have played in my condition," said a disappointed Jerry West, the Lakers' super guard, who lost his seventh playoff series. "It was a real tribute to the man that he was out there at all."

Reed, the NBA's Most Valuable Player and the Knicks' acknowledged leader, badly bruised his right hip in Monday's fifth game here. He sat out Wednesday night's loss to the Lakers that tied the series at 3-3.

Before the final game, he had two pain-killing shots pumped into the right hip area. Then just before game time, he walked onto the court amid a thundering, standing ovation.

Reed had said before the game, "I'll play if I can crawl." He almost had to.

His opponent at center, Wilt Chamberlain, beat him down the court on many plays in the first half. Reed was playing on one leg. He grimaced and hobbled, but got the job done—that is, he stopped Chamberlain.

"I felt if I could get enough pain-killers into the leg, I'd be all right," said Reed. "I had to be able to pivot on the foot."
"I was apprehensive from the first moment he stepped on the court," said Red Holzman, the Knicks' coach who was soaked from a dressing room champagne shower. "We meant to use Willis defensively from the start. He knew what he had to do."

Big Lift For Knicks
Reed also got the Knicks going offensively. He scored the Knicks' first two field goals with his needle-threading jumper from the key. That brought Chamberlain out, and nullified his awesome rebounding presence under the basket.

Gordy May Hang Up Skates Before Sons Make Grade

By The Associated Press
Does Gordie Howe plan to stick around with the Detroit Red Wings long enough to play in the National Hockey League with his sons?

At one time he considered it. But the fact is Howe is 42 years old while his oldest son, Marty, is just 16. Both Marty, and his 14-year-old brother Mark played together on the Olympia Agency team that won the national Junior B amateur hockey championship this year.

Both are good, but even if Howe sticks it out up to two more seasons Marty would still be too young at 18. Howe has said he will play one — or possibly two — more years.

"I think they'll both make it in the NHL," Howe said in a telephone interview. "But I don't think I'll still be playing. That's too long."

Howe owns his own ice rink in suburban Detroit and conducts a hockey school there. He said he has worked with his sons on their game but doesn't know if they emulate him.

"I don't know what I play like," he said. "But from what people say I'd have to say I think they play a lot like me."
"Better!" cracked his wife in the background.

Mrs. Howe is the "business manager" of the Olympia Agency team.
"Gord calls me business manager," she said. "but actually I was strictly an interested parent and helped raise money."

The Howe boys have always had to cope with the legendary Gordie Howe name.

"Maybe one of them will carry on the Howe tradition," Mrs. Howe said. "So far they've held it up and lived up to expectations despite a lot of pressure. But when Gordie quits there'll be a lot more pressure on them. We've talked to both of them about it."

Marty is a sophomore and Mark a freshman at Southfield Lathrup High School. They are only 15 months apart in age and,

While Reed draped himself around Chamberlain, Walt Frazier scored 15 of his game-high 36 points. This helped the Knicks to a 38-24 first quarter edge, and it was all downhill for New York after that.

Reed played the first half, as New York all but buried the hopes of the bridesmaid Lakers with a 64-42 lead. He got a another pain-killing shot at the intermission, then played about half of the third quarter.

At the 5:44 mark, backup center Nate Bowman came in with the Knicks ahead 81-56 and the confetti-tossing crowd uncontrollable with glee.

"Willis told me how to play Chamberlain," said Bowman. "He told me to just keep my elbow in his back and lay on him real good."

The advice worked. Chamberlain wound up with 21 points, far from his Herculean performance of 45 Wednesday.

The seconds ticked away in the third quarter, and the crowd got more unruly. Other Knicks

Saints Acquire Lions' Receiver

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The New Orleans Saints announced today they acquired receiver Billy Gambrell on waivers from the Detroit Lions.

A seven-year national Football League veteran, Gambrell was traded last year by a back injury.

He played five years with the St. Louis Cardinals and was traded to Detroit in 1968. He had his best season in 1968, catching 28 passes for 492 yards and seven touchdowns.

Crampton Takes Lead At Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Bruce Crampton, a curly-haired Australian who led the $115,000 Houston Champions International Invitational Golf Tournament going into today's third round, has a four-point program for success on the pro tour.

"First, you've got to have ability," Crampton said. "You've got to be able to produce when you need to. You've got to have a lot of luck."

"And you've got to have good nerves."
He put the combination together for a three-under-par 68 Friday for a 36-hole total of 137 and a one-stroke lead over Don Bies, while legendary Ben Hogan faded into the pack.

Hogan, 56 and playing in his first tournament in almost three years, had a 75 for 146.

"I'm tired," admitted Hogan, who was limping badly on an injured left knee as he trudged over the demanding 7,166 yard Champions Golf Club course.

"I had some pretty good shots," he said, "but I hit some clunkers, too."

His biggest trouble came on the par three eighth. He hit his tee shot thin and dumped it into the water. He dropped out, chipped short and two-putted for a double bogey. He simply never recovered.

Bies, a former club pro from Seattle playing only his second full year on the tour, moved into second place with a 67 for 138, just one stroke back of Crampton.

Big Fred Marti, a Houston native who has yet to win in six years on the tour, also barged into contention with a 67. He was alone in third place at 139.

Gene Littler followed at 140 with Deane Beman and Gibby Gilbert next at 141. Beman, the first round leader, slipped to a 73, including a double bogey on the 16th, where he missed the green and three-putted.

South African Gary Player took his second consecutive 72 and was well back. Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Billy Casper are not competing.

Tiger Tales
By The Associated Press
Detroit Tiger pitchers have given up 27 runs in the last four games, but pitching coach Mike Roark said Friday night there is no need to panic.

"There's really no time to panic," he said, after Detroit's 9-3 loss to Kansas City. "You just have to go back at them. If you panic you start pressing."

He said he would be more concerned with the staff "if the guys went out and couldn't get the ball over the plate. But they are not pitching that badly."

Mike Kilkenny failed to get a batter out Friday and didn't last the first inning. Joe Niekro lasted only three innings Thursday, and Mickey Lolich made it only through the fifth Tuesday.

Third base coach Grover Reisinger claims the baseballs used this season are livelier, even though they're not supposed to be.

"It's not the lively ball used experimentally in spring training but it sure seems like they're livelier than last year," he said. "I look at a regular fly ball and it seems to go, and go, and go."

Kansas City is entrenched in last place in the West Division of the American League with a 9-17 record. But after Friday's win over Detroit, manager Charlie Metro said: "It's good to see them roaring back (from a four game losing streak). I hope that'll be one of our trademarks from now on."

West, who scored 28 points to lead Los Angeles, said: "We were never in the game. The Knicks handled the ball well, they shoot well and they're intelligent."

Then, reflecting on playoffs past and present, West added: "This was not the toughest series ... it was more embarrassing than tough."

Plan Memorial Services Monday For Tennis Coach

MIDLAND, Mich. (AP) — A memorial service for Mrs. Jean Hoxie, internationally known tennis teacher, will be held Monday morning in the Hoxie Tennis House at Northwood Institute, where she was tennis coach.

Mrs. Hoxie was killed in an auto accident Wednesday. Students and faculty of Northwood, as well as the general public, are invited to attend the memorial service at which Lyall Smith, public relations director of the Detroit Lions, will deliver the eulogy.

Mrs. Hoxie's funeral service will be held in Detroit Monday afternoon with burial in White Chapel cemetery, Troy.

The starting gate at New York thoroughbred tracks is 70 feet behind the actual starting line of the race. Timing of the race begins at the starting line.

Knicks Win Championship; Ailing Reed Inspires Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Where there's a Willis, there's a way. And the New York Knicks found that way behind pain-ravaged Willis Reed Friday night, heating the Los Angeles Lakers with surprising ease 113-99 to win the National Basketball Association title.

New York's ace center, playing "because there's no tomorrow" and loaded with pain-killing cortisone, provided a physical and inspirational lift to give the Knicks their first championship in the final, seventh game before a defending full house at Madison Square Garden.

"The fans were just great, and I didn't want to disappoint them," Reed said in the champagne-drenched euphoria of the winner's dressing room. "When I was warming up, there was a lot of questions in my mind. 'I said to myself, you must do the job ... your team needs you.'"

Shows Desire

"Probably a lot of guys wouldn't have played in his condition," said a disappointed Jerry West, the Lakers' super guard, who lost his seventh playoff series. "It was a real tribute to the man that he was out there at all."

Reed, the NBA's Most Valuable Player and the Knicks' acknowledged leader, badly bruised his right hip in Monday's fifth game here. He sat out Wednesday night's loss to the Lakers that tied the series at 3-3.

Before the final game, he had two pain-killing shots pumped into the right hip area. Then just before game time, he walked onto the court amid a thundering, standing ovation.

Reed had said before the game, "I'll play if I can crawl." He almost had to.

His opponent at center, Wilt Chamberlain, beat him down the court on many plays in the first half. Reed was playing on one leg. He grimaced and hobbled, but got the job done—that is, he stopped Chamberlain.

"I felt if I could get enough pain-killers into the leg, I'd be all right," said Reed. "I had to be able to pivot on the foot."

"I was apprehensive from the first moment he stepped on the court," said Red Holman, the Knicks' coach who was soaked from a dressing room champagne shower. "We meant to use Willis defensively from the start. He knew what he had to do."

Big Lift For Knicks

Reed also got the Knicks going offensively. He scored the Knicks' first two field goals with his needle-threading jumper from the Key. That brought Chamberlain out, and nullified his awesome rebounding presence under the basket.

Gordy May Hang Up Skates Before Sons Make Grade

By The Associated Press

Does Gordie Howe plan to stick around with the Detroit Red Wings long enough to play in the National Hockey League with his sons?

At one time he considered it. But the fact is Howe is 42 years old while his oldest son, Marty, is just 16. Both Marty, and his 14-year-old brother Mark played together on the Olympia Academy team that won the national Junior B amateur hockey championship this year.

Both are good, but even if Howe sticks it out up to two more seasons Marty would still be too young at 18. Howe has said he will play one — or possibly two — more years.

"I think they'll both make it in the NHL," Howe said in a telephone interview. "But I don't think I'll still be playing. That's too long."

Howe owns his own ice rink in suburban Detroit and conducts a hockey school there. He said he has worked with his sons on their game but doesn't know if they emulate him.

"I don't know what I play like," he said. "But from what people say I'd have to say I think they play a lot like me."

"Better!" cracked his wife in the background.

Mrs. Howe is the "business manager" of the Olympia Agency team.

"Gord calls me business manager," she said, "but actually I was strictly an interested parent and helped raise money."

The Howe boys have always had to cope with the legendary Gordie Howe name.

"Maybe one of them will carry on the Howe tradition," Mrs. Howe said. "So far they've held it up and lived up to expectations despite a lot of pressure. But when Gordie quits there'll be a lot more pressure on them. We've talked to both of them about it."

Marty is a sophomore and Mark a freshman at Southfield Lathrup High School. They are only 15 months apart in age and,

While Reed draped himself around Chamberlain, Walt Frazier scored 15 of his game-high 36 points. This helped the Knicks to a 38-24 first quarter edge, and it was all downhill for New York after that.

Reed played the first half, as New York all but buried the hopes of the bridesmaid Lakers with a 69-42 lead. He got a another pain-killing shot at the intermission, then played about half of the third quarter.

At the 5:44 mark, backup center Nate Bowman came in with the Knicks ahead 81-56 and the confetti-tossing crowd uncontrollable with glee.

"Willis told me how to play Chamberlain," said Bowman. "He told me to just keep my elbow in his back and lay on him real good."

The advice worked. Chamberlain wound up with 21 points, far from his Herculean performance of 45 Wednesday.

The seconds ticked away in the third quarter, and the crowd got more unruly. Other Knicks

Saints Acquire Lions' Receiver

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The New Orleans Saints announced today they acquired receiver Billy Gambrell on waivers from the Detroit Lions.

A seven-year national football league veteran, Gambrell was idled last year by a back injury.

He played five years with the St. Louis Cardinals and was traded to Detroit in 1968. He had his best season in 1968, catching 28 passes for 492 yards and seven touchdowns.

Crampton Takes Lead At Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Bruce Crampton, a curly-haired Australian who led the $115,000 Houston Champions International Invitational Golf Tournament going into today's third round, has a four-point program for success on the pro tour.

"First, you've got to have ability," Crampton said. "You've got to be able to produce when you need to. 'You've got to have a lot of luck. 'And you've got to have good enough nerves.'"

He put the combination together for a three-under-par 68 Friday for a 36-hole total of 137 and a one-stroke lead over Don Bies, while legendary Ben Hogan faded into the pack.

Hogan, 56 and playing in his first tournament in almost three years, had a 75 for 146.

"I'm tired," admitted Hogan, who was limping badly on an injured left knee as he trudged over the demanding 7,166 yard Champions Golf Club course.

"I had some pretty good shots," he said, "but I hit some clunkers, too."

His biggest trouble came on the par three eighth. He hit his tee shot thin and dumped it into the water. He dropped out, chipped short and two-putted for a double bogey. He simply never recovered.

Bies, a former club pro from Seattle playing only his second full year on the tour, moved into second place with a 67 for 138, just one stroke back of Crampton.

Big Fred Marti, a Houston native who has yet to win in six years on the tour, also barged into contention with a 67. He was alone in third place at 139.

Gene Littler followed at 140 with Deane Beman and Gibby Gilbert next at 141. Beman, the first round leader, slipped to a 73, including a double bogey on the 16th, where he missed the green and three-putted.

South African Gary Player took his second consecutive 72 and was well back. Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Billy Casper are not competing.

Plan Memorial Services Monday For Tennis Coach

MIDLAND, Mich. (AP) — A memorial service for Mrs. Jean Hoxie, internationally known tennis teacher, will be held Monday morning in the Hoxie Tennis House at Northwood Institute, where she was tennis coach.

Mrs. Hoxie was killed in an auto accident Wednesday.

Students and faculty of Northwood, as well as the general public, are invited to attend the memorial service at which Lyall Smith, public relations director of the Detroit Lions, will deliver the eulogy.

Mrs. Hoxie's funeral service will be held in Detroit Monday afternoon with burial in White Chapel cemetery, Troy.

Warm Water Discharges Banned In Lake Michigan

HOLLAND, Mich. (AP)—Public opinion plus the fact that if anything goes wrong with Lake Michigan "it will take 100 to 200 years to correct" led to a federal ban on discharges of warm water into the lake, a federal official said Friday.

Carl Klein, Assistant Secretary of the Interior for water quality and research, described the reasons for banning warm water discharges during an environmental conference at Hope College.

Describing Lake Michigan as "The most critical basin in the United States," Klein said the government cannot afford to gamble on its future.

Klein admitted that the new department policy forbidding discharges of water into the lake warmer than one degree above the lake itself, caught "everyone by surprise."

But he added, "we don't want to gamble on unknowns" in trying to preserve the lake.

The new policy announced Thursday during a meeting of the Lake Michigan enforcement conference in Chicago promptly brought howls of protest from some power company officials.

Klein said the department has the authority to adopt such a policy without approval from the various states. But he indicated the Interior Department will provide industry and municipalities time to comply with it.

In fact, Klein said the department will "give the utilities time to present their plans for meeting our policy." He said once plans for meeting the policy are proposed, an industry might be allowed three or four years before being required to be in full compliance.

He warned the new policy "will shake a lot more violators out of the bushes than people realize because the policy will affect water filtration operations and sewage disposal plants of all municipalities around the lake."

He estimated that providing the necessary cooling facilities for the discharges from power plants will not increase electric rates more than four or five per cent.

Klein also said the policy will not necessarily delay next month's scheduled opening of a Consumers Power Co. nuclear plant near South Haven. Company officials have said that plant—the first nuclear generating facility on Lake Michigan—would return water to the lake 28 degrees warmer than when it was pulled into the plant for cooling.

The federal official said the plant may open on schedule if the company comes up with plans for meeting the temperature standards in time.

Klein said the policy will be enforced strictly and no leeway will be permitted once plants have had time to comply. Some plant plans now call for plumes of heated water to be cooled gradually as they push further into the lake, he said.

But Klein said the policy requires readings within one degree of the lake's temperature at the spot where the plants discharge into the lake and no plumes of warmer water will be allowed.

In Jackson, A. H. Aymond, board chairman of Consumers Power, called the new policy "arbitrary and ill advised."

He claimed it will impose an "enormous financial burden on municipalities and industries bordering Lake Michigan—including utilities—and would require substantial increases in the costs of goods and services with no corresponding economic benefits to the public."

Aymond also challenged the Department's legal authority to impose "such a drastic regulation."

Sec. Hare Thinks New Republican Nominee 'Great'

HOWELL (AP)—Secretary of State James Hare says magazine publisher James Turner is "a very refreshing breath on the political scene."

Hare, a Democrat, who is not seeking re-election, made the remark at a rally in which Turner opened a campaign for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Hare emphasized that his remarks were not designed as an endorsement of Turner, but "there are certain things that need to be brought out into the open and Jim Turner is trying to do it."

Turner, publisher of "Today" magazine, has raised questions about wrongdoings among lawyers and judges.

Hare said Turner is "the only candidate to date that has endorsed what I think is terribly important in the political world today. And that is to bring out in the open the finances of a campaign and the finances of a candidate."

Turner, Hare said, is "asking some very, very embarrassing questions of candidates of both parties...he's going to add spark to this particular campaign because I'm afraid from what I see that the other candidates are not going to get into the gut issues."

Florida Senate Gives Approval To 'Bumper Bill'

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—The so-called "bumper bill" was approved Friday by Florida Senate, despite a protest it could put auto dealers in the state out of business.

The measure would require private passenger cars manufactured after Jan. 1, 1973, and sold in Florida to be equipped with an approved bumper system.

The bumpers would have to be able to sustain a direct collision at a speed of 5 miles per hour without damage.

The bill also would require that cars sold after Jan. 1, 1975, must be able to sustain without damage a direct collision at 10 miles per hour. It now goes to the House.

Sponsor Sen. Dempsey Barron, D-Panama City, chairman of the Senate Insurance Committee, said one reason for high auto insurance rates is the skyrocketing costs of car repairs. And car repairs are high, Barron said, because automobile manufacturers are producing cars made out of materials which can't withstand low speed collisions without heavy damage.

Klein admitted that the new department policy forbidding discharges of water into the lake warmer than one degree above the lake itself, caught "everyone by surprise."

But he added, "we don't want to gamble on unknowns" in trying to preserve the lake.

The new policy announced Thursday during a meeting of the Lake Michigan enforcement conference in Chicago promptly brought howls of protest from some power company officials.

Klein said the department has the authority to adopt such a policy without approval from the various states. But he indicated the Interior Department will provide industry and municipalities time to comply with it.

In fact, Klein said the department will "give the utilities time to present their plans for meeting our policy." He said once plans for meeting the policy are proposed, an industry might be allowed three or four years before being required to be in full compliance.

H warned the new policy "will shake a lot more violators out of the bushes than people realize because the policy will affect water filtration operations and sewage disposal plants of all municipalities around the lake."

He estimated that providing the necessary cooling facilities for the discharges from power plants will not increase electric rates more than four or five per cent.

Klein also said the policy will not necessarily delay next month's scheduled opening of a Consumers Power Co. nuclear plant near South Haven. Company officials have said that plant—the first nuclear generating facility on Lake Michigan—would return water to the lake 28 degrees warmer than when it was pulled into the plant for cooling.

The federal official said the plant may open on schedule if the company comes up with plans for meeting the temperature standards in time.

Klein said the policy will be enforced strictly and no leeway will be permitted once plants have had time to comply. Some plant plans now call for plumes of heated water to be cooled gradually as they push further into the lake, he said.

But Klein said the policy requires readings within one degree of the lake's temperature at the spot where the plants discharge into the lake and no plumes of warmer water will be allowed.

In Jackson, A. H. Aymond, board chairman of Consumers Power, called the new policy "arbitrary and ill advised."

He claimed it will impose an "enormous financial burden on municipalities and industries bordering Lake Michigan—including utilities—and would require substantial increases in the costs of goods and services with no corresponding economic benefits to the public."

Aymond also challenged the Department's legal authority to impose "such a drastic regulation."

Sec. Hare Thinks New Republican Nominee 'Great'

HOWELL (AP)—Secretary of State James Hare says magazine publisher James Turner is "a very refreshing breath on the political scene."

Hare, a Democrat, who is not seeking re-election, made the remark at a rally in which Turner opened a campaign for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Hare emphasized that his remarks were not designed as an endorsement of Turner, but "there are certain things that need to be brought out into the open and Jim Turner is trying to do it."

Turner, publisher of "Today" magazine, has raised questions about wrongdoings among lawyers and judges.

Hare said Turner is "the only candidate to date that has endorsed what I think is terribly important in the political world today. And that is to bring out in the open the finances of a campaign and the finances of a candidate."

Turner, Hare said, is "asking some very, very embarrassing questions of candidates of both parties...he's going to add spark to this particular campaign because I'm afraid from what I see that the other candidates are not going to get into the gut issues."

Gets 20 Days For Not Respecting Judge's Entrance

CHICAGO (AP)—One of the defendants in the U.S. District Court trial of 11 persons charged with destroying Selective Service records was sentenced to 20 days in jail for refusing to rise when the judge entered the courtroom.

Judge Edwin A. Robson said Friday the contempt sentence against Frederick J. Chase, 36, of Detroit, would be served after the trial ended. He added that the sentence was for Chase's actions Friday and noted that the defendant also had refused to stand on eight other occasions.

The court will keep track of the number of times it is necessary to order federal marshals to lift Chase from his chair when the judge or jury enters, Judge Robson said.

Before sentencing Chase, the judge asked him if he would rise in the future when the judge enters the courtroom.

Florida Senate Gives Approval To 'Bumper Bill'

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—The so-called "bumper bill" was approved Friday by Florida Senate, despite a protest it could put auto dealers in the state out of business.

The measure would require private passenger cars manufactured after Jan. 1, 1973, and sold in Florida to be equipped with an approved bumper system.

The bumpers would have to be able to sustain a direct collision at a speed of 5 miles per hour without damage.

The bill also would require that cars sold after Jan. 1, 1975, must be able to sustain without damage a direct collision at 10 miles per hour. It now goes to the House.

Sponsor Sen. Dempsey Barron, D-Panama City, chairman of the Senate Insurance Committee, said one reason for high auto insurance rates is the skyrocketing costs of car repairs.

And car repairs are high, Barron said, because automobile manufacturers are producing cars made out of materials which can't withstand low speed collisions without heavy damage.

Council To Get Public Safety Building Plan

A public safety building, which would house the police and fire department of Escanaba, is being proposed by City Manager George Harvey to the City Council for consideration.

The city manager's comments on public safety, addressed to the Council, were made in connection with the necessity to reduce the fire department personnel by one man in the formulation of the 1970-71 budget.

Hanoi Blasts Nixon's Speech

PARIS (AP) — The Hanoi delegation at the Vietnam peace talks today described President Nixon's news conference as an "embarrassed exercise in sophistry" and warned that the three peoples of Indochina are united in the pledge to defeat the American aggressors and their lackeys.

In a communique commenting on Nixon's statements in Washington Friday night, the North Vietnamese delegation said the President's assertion that he, too, wanted peace was an example of "the Machiavellism typical of him" and showed the "extreme embarrassment" which the student protest movement has caused him.

The communique described as "sophistry" the argument that the American Drive into Cambodia was necessary to protect American lives in Vietnam. It accused Nixon of defying international law and "crudely trampling underfoot" the 1954 Geneva agreements with his decision to launch the Cambodian operation and order new bombing raids against North Vietnam.

All the efforts and activities of the Nixon administration during the past 18 months have been part of the search for a military victory on the battlefield in order to consolidate (American) aggression against Vietnam and in the rest of Indochina," the communique said.

Bill Signed

LANSING (AP)—Gov. William Milliken has signed into law a bill setting up separate state licensing boards for architects, professional engineers and land surveyors.

The present single licensing board for the three occupations recently was declared unconstitutional by the State Court of Appeals.

Under the new law, each of the three boards will include three members of the occupation being regulated and one member from each of the other two occupations.

Question Plan To Have Agnew Dedicate Site

STONE MOUNTAIN, Ga. (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew dedicates a huge monument to leaders of the Confederacy today amid controversy over whether he is the right man for the job.

A crowd expected to be near the 100,000 mark was forecast by officials for the Stone Mountain Ceremony, which has the theme "Unity Through Sacrifice."

The sculpture, the world's largest, is carved on the side of the granite mountain and depicts Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy; Gen. Robert E. Lee and Gen. Stonewall Jackson.

All are on horseback.

Lee, the carving's central figure, is 90 feet high and 27 feet wide. His sword measures 50 feet and his horse, traveler, is 141 feet from nose to tail tip.

President Nixon was to have been the main speaker but canceled because of the pressure of world affairs. Agnew was named as his substitute and a controversy immediately developed.

A Civil War historian, Dr. Bell Wiley, told the Stone Mountain Memorial Association, of which he is a member, that the vice president's appearance would be an affront to Gen. Lee.

"Gen. Lee believed in the right of dissent," Wiley said. "He had serious doubts about slavery. He joined the cause of the Confederacy because he believed in the sovereignty of the states."

Atty. Gen. Arthur Bolton criticized Wiley, saying he wanted "to stifle the vice president's views."

Secretary of State Ben Fortson said Agnew's presence would be a political appearance and President Nixon should have kept his commitment.

Nixon Says Policy Fast Way To Peace

goals that they want. It will shorten this war. It will reduce American casualties.

"It will allow us to go forward with our withdrawal program. The 150,000 Americans that I announced for withdrawal the next year will come home on schedule. It will in my opinion serve the cause of a just peace in Vietnam."

Two Possibilities
At least two possibilities of counter action have been considered by Washington officials. One is a counterattack in an effort to inflict heavy damage on the invading allied units. The other is an attempt to take over the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh, oust the government of Premier Lon Nol and install the recently deposed Prince Sihanouk again as Chief of State.

Nixon did not mention these possibilities, but virtually ruled out another U.S. invasion of the sanctuary area if the Communists eventually rebuild their bases.

"If the enemy does come back into those sanctuaries next time," he said, "the South Vietnamese will be strong enough and well trained enough to handle it alone."

S. Vietnamese Help
"I should point out, too, that they are handling a majority of the assignments now in terms of manpower."

Twice during the press conference Nixon warned Hanoi against escalating the war at a time when, he said, the United States is trying to de-escalate.

He held open the possibility of resuming at least limited bombing of North Vietnam if necessary to help defend American troops against some massive invasion of South Vietnam from the North.

Would Use More Force
He was asked what he would do about bombing the North if Hanoi sent troops across the demilitarized zone into the South.

"I will only say," he replied, "that if the North Vietnamese did what some have suggested they might do—move a massive force of 250,000 or 300,000 across the DMZ against our Marine Corps people who are there—I would certainly not allow those men to be massacred without using more force and more effective force against North Vietnam."

Nixon said he did not think, in view of the warnings he has given, that the enemy would cross the DMZ. Military authorities say that a strike of the size Nixon mentioned is highly unlikely. The North Vietnamese have three divisions above the DMZ, about 40,000 men, and an attack of that magnitude has been speculated on here.

Decisive Action Used
At another point Nixon said he had broken with what he called the step-by-step reaction to enemy escalation used by President Lyndon B. Johnson. He uses decisive action, Nixon said.

Nixon declined to go into detail about how he was advised by Secretary of State William P. Rogers, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird and others on the question of going into Cambodia. He would not say whether they were for or against it but declared that they—and he himself—had questioned it.

"I take the responsibility for it," he declared. "I believe it was the right decision. I believe it will work out. If it doesn't, then I am to blame. They are not."

But he continued: "Now that America is there, if we do what many of our sincere critics think we should do, if we withdraw from Vietnam and allow the enemy to come into Vietnam and massacre the civilians there by the millions, as they would... let me say that America is finished insofar as the peacekeeper in the Asian world is concerned."

At the same time he reaffirmed his policy—known as the Guam or Nixon Doctrine—that in future whatever role the United States plays as peacekeeper or defender of neutrality will stop short of sending in ground combat troops.

Check Medicare Payment Record, Williams Advises

Medicare beneficiaries should carefully check the "Explanation of Benefits" form sent to them after Medicare has made payment for hospital or physicians' services they have received; and if the payment record is incorrect, the beneficiary should report any discrepancy to his social security office or the Medicare paying agent immediately, Arnold T. Williams, social security district manager said today.

Williams emphasized that errors in billing can occur. A careful check of payment records can prevent fraud or error, he added. By reporting any apparent mistakes, Medicare beneficiaries can help keep costs down.

Of 2,500 cases of errors or discrepancies in Medicare bills reported by beneficiaries, Medicare carriers, intermediaries, and others, and recorded in the SSA's central control system, Williams said, over half turned out to be the result of clerical error or misunderstanding.

But others did reveal evidence of attempts at abuse or intent to defraud, and it is SSA policy, he said, to carefully check all reports and other evidence of irregularity to assure that incorrect payments are not made.

Check Medicare Payment Record, Williams Advises

Medicare beneficiaries should carefully check the "Explanation of Benefits" form sent to them after Medicare has made payment for hospital or physicians' services they have received; and if the payment record is incorrect, the beneficiary should report any discrepancy to his social security office or the Medicare paying agent immediately. Arnold T. Williams, social security district manager said today.

But others did reveal evidence of attempts at abuse or intent to defraud, and it is SSA policy, he said, to carefully check all reports and other evidence of irregularity to assure that incorrect payments are not made.
